HOW RESERVOIR BROKE

Damage Bill $10 Million In Los Angeles Dam Break

LOS ANGELES (AP)—An estimated 300,000,000 gallons of water roared out of a gaping hole in Baldwin Hills reservoir, leaving three persons dead, 15 injured, at least $10,000,000 damage—and one big unanswered question: Why?

Investigators probed the cause of Saturday's devastating flood today as cleanup crews and heartick homeowners moved in to clear the stricken area of tons of muck and debris.

For some, there was nothing to do.

The giant wall of water from the breaking earth-filled dam swept blocks of homes away. Only deep, eroded gullies remained where attractive dwellings stood. Sixty-four homes were destroyed and 82 received major damage. More than 100 cars were wrecked.

More fortunate residents picked among the ruins of their shattered homes, hoping to salvage items left behind when the order to evacuate disrupted the tranquil neighborhood. Police patrolled the area heavily to prevent looting.

BURST WITH ROAR

The big 19.5-acre reservoir, owned by the Los Angeles department of water and power, burst with a mighty roar Saturday afternoon after a small leak developed earlier in the day.

Witnesses said a wedge—75 feet at the base—tore out of the asphalt-and-concrete lined wall of the earth-filled dam and the released water shot 50 feet into the air.

The water at first fell into a catch basin several hundred feet below the lip of the dam, jarring the earth as it hit. The 50-foot-deep basin soon was filled

CHOCOLATE-FOOTED BOY UP TO EARS IN LOOT

VANCOUVER (CP)—Police Sunday were searching for a chocolate-coated burglar who raided a candy factory, in the city's east end.

Investigating officers said the prowler, believed to be a youngster, fell into a vat of chocolate while prowling the plant. They found a trail of chocolate footprints leading to a door.

Chocolates were strewn all over the place.

Divided Doctors Don't Talk It Out

REGINA (CP)—A picture of Saskatchewan doctors divided into two camps which don't communicate with one another was unfolded today by Mr. Justice Mervyn Woods, Regina, a one-man provincial royal commission on hospital privileges.

Mr. Justice Woods, in a 104-page final report to the government on the first investigations of his commission, urges the two doctor groups, which he says have split over their approach to the province's compulsory medical care insurance plan, to restore their communication lines.

He says the breakdown in communications has resulted in five community clinic doctors, whose cases he investigated, encountering difficulty in obtaining hospital privileges.

The commissioner, a member of Saskatchewan Court of Appeal, was appointed by the provincial government to investigate complaints from some community clinic doctors that they were being unfairly denied hospital privileges.

A doctor with hospital privileges is allowed to commit his patients to a hospital and treat them there. In each of the five cases investigated so far by Mr. Justice Woods, applications for hospital privileges were rejected on the advice of hospital medical staffs.

The commissioner concludes in his report that these medical staffs, controlled by doctors who do not work in community clinics, did not make a great enough effort to communicate personally with the applying community clinic doctors and so did not get all the facts before delivering their advice. Misunderstanding also arose, especially in the field of medical ethics.

Cheapskate Swains Chase False Scents

MONTREAL (CP)—Husbands beware!

The Montreal Better Business Bureau says phony perfumes have created a stench in the Christmas-rush atmosphere in Montreal.

"It's easy for a man to get clipped buying bargain perfumes for wife, mother or sweetheart," says the bureau's bulletin.

"Some are really toilet water or cologne rebottled in fancy purse-sized containers that give them an air of high-price elegance. Some are marked only with initials—A,

C, WS or T—and the sales girl may claim this means Arpege, Chanel, White Shoulders or Tabu. It doesn't."

Unordered Christmas cards shipped to people through the mail is another racket cropping up again this year, says the bureau.

The bulletin suggests the following note sent to the shipper of the unordered goods will remove your name from their mailing lists:

"Your unorderd merchandise has been received. Please remit $50 for storage of same."

'DON'T PLEASE CHINA AT EXPENSE OF SOVIET'

PARIS (AP)—U.S. State Secretary Dean Rusk urged the North Atlantic alliance today to avoid actions which would give comfort to Communist China at the expense of the Soviet Union.

He told a NATO ministerial meeting the West might be on the verge of seeing great changes in the Communist world.

Rusk said the militancy of Peking should not be encouraged. In this context, he said, it was better for the West to go along with coexistence with the Soviet Union.

PLEDGE TO NATO

U.S. Will Keep Europe Troops

(Times News Services)

PARIS—President Lyndon Johnson today pledged full support for NATO and assured the alliance the United States would keep at least six divisions in Europe "as long as they are needed."

The new American president made the pledge in a message to the 15-nation NATO ministerial council which opened a three-day meeting here to assess the West's military strength and policy.

He said under present circumstances there was no doubt the six divisions in Europe will "continue to be needed."

In his message, read by State Secretary Rusk, Johnson said they could best honor the late President Kennedy by continuing "our pursuit of the goal of Atlantic partnership."

Dirk Stikker, Dutch secretary-general of NATO, said Johnson's message was "very well received" and created a "good impression."

CALLS ON DE GAULLE

Rusk later called on President de Gaulle for a wide-ranging discussion at the Elysee Palace.

But he told reporters after the 45-minute courtesy call the question of a visit by de Gaulle to Washington was not raised.

External Affairs Minister Paul Martin of Canada told the ministers at the two-hour morning session that he believes the peoples of Communist Eastern Europe were enjoying a greater measure of autonomy.

He also suggested that the disarmament talks resuming in Geneva next month should be established as a regular fixture of the diplomatic calendar.

The foreign, finance and defense ministers heard a maiden speech by new British Foreign Secretary R. A. Butler.

Butler asked the Western Allies to control exports of arms that could be used against the British-backed Malaysia Federation, a conference spokesman said.

He said the Southeast Asian federation bitterly opposed by Indonesia was a barrier to Communist aggression.

SHOULD BACK POLICY

In dealing with East-West relations, Butler said he believed Soviet Premier Khrushchev was anxious not to increase Russia's military expenditures and the West should encourage this policy.

He also said the West must act in unison on the question of Western contacts with Russia. But in making any approach, the West must maintain the military balance and protect its vital interests in West Berlin.

He suggested the setting up of a board would be permanent, headed by a member of the

ROUND-A-BOUT

By DOUGLAS HILLSIDE

There's a psychiatrist in Victoria with an unusual hobby that he uses to frighten away burglars from his home.

This doctor, who must be nameless, otherwise the medical profession will be after him for getting "unprofessional" publicity, collects instruments of torture.

Among these are several poisoned arrows. When he goes out he leaves a notice in his house for burglars.

It reads: "There are poisoned darts in this house. If you get a scratch proceed immediately to the poison centre. It is your only chance to save your life."

No burglar has entered his house yet so he isn't sure if it will work. But he says it will certainly create a "psychological hazard" for them.

Chimes of St. Peter's Protestant Church, Belmont Park, will be dedicated next Sunday at 11 a.m. to the memory of the late Chaplain Ivan Rex Edwards.

At the time of his death last year, he held the appointment of Deputy Chaplain of the Fleet, Protestant, at naval headquarters, Ottawa.

Formerly he served at the Canadian Services College, Royal Roads, and as command chaplain on the Pacific Coast.

The service of dedication will be conducted by Command Chaplain Pacific Coast A. J. Mowatt, assisted by Chaplain H. I. Hare, Protestant chaplain at Belmont Park. Rear Admiral W. M. Landymore, Flag Officer Pacific Coast, will present the chimes for dedication.

Voice of Vera Barclay's little girls' choir, raised in a chorus "We Like Figgy Pudding" at Victoria Musical Art Society Christmas tea in the Empress Hotel, Saturday afternoon, delighted the large audience . . . with one exception. Eyes flashing and with anger in her voice this tea guest insisted it was "not a fit song for little girls to sing."

Hostess at her table tried to find out why this was so.

Tea guest insisted it was in the refrain which went something like this: "We like figgy pudding . . . we like figgy pudding . . . we like figgy pudding . . . so, bring us some here."

Table hostess could see nothing wrong with the words but the tea guest proceeded to point out that little girls should not be asked to sing . . . "So, bring us some BEER."

Mr. and Mrs. H. Wakefield Maunsell, formerly of 1771 Newton Street, Victoria, attended the memorial service for President Kennedy in St. Paul's Cathedral, London, England, Sunday, Dec. 1.

"It was a majestic ceremony at which many of London's leading citizens paid their last respects to a great man," writes Mr. Maunsell.

The couple left here in October for a year's stay in southern England, after which they plan to return to Victoria.

Indirectly...Times women's editor Elizabeth Forbes, received an early Christmas present Sunday evening when Frank Hong, head of the Chinese Lions Club presented Gerry Webb, supervisor of group life and group therapy at Sevenoaks Treatment Centre for emotionally-disturbed children, with two brand new four-speed Electrohome portable phonographs for use at the centre.

Presentation was made at a party held by the club in Lee's Chinese Foods on Fisgard Street. Chairman of the evening was Bill Lowe.

Reason "our Best" gets in on the presentation is because it was through her column "Between Ourselves" that members of the Chinese Lions Club first discovered Sevenoaks Centre needed the phonographs to assist boys and girls who have been emotionally hurt to win back to a normal way of living.

Bess says she could have received no better Christmas gift.

The generosity of Roy and Thomas Denny has been repeated once again at Royal Jubilee Hospital.

Last week they made a contribution towards replacing the furniture they supplied in the lobby of the new maternity wing 17 years ago.

Furnishings will be completed by the women's auxiliary and a government grant.

Christmas May Yet Open Breach in Berlin Wall

BERLIN (Reuters)—One major issue today barred the way of West Berliners hoping to visit close relatives in East Berlin during Christmas for the first time since the Berlin wall was built by the Communists in 1961.

West Berlin and East German officials continued negotiations aimed at settling the question of protocol following agreement on all technical details for the granting of passes to West Berliners to cross the wall.

West Berlin Mayor Willy Brandt Sunday night expressed cautious hope for success in talks and hinted agreement would be reached today on an East German proposal to allow Christmas visiting.

But the protocol question cast a shadow over the agreement to allow some 400,000 West Berliners access to East Berlin for the first time since the Communist wall went up in August, 1961.

East Germany wants West Berlin negotiator Horst Korber to sign an agreement on the passes "in the name of the city government."

They say they would not treat this as a concession to the Communist claim that West Berlin is a third German state distinct from West Germany.

THANKS TO GIFT

Centre for Retarded Makes It Through '63

By LESLIE MILLIN

A $250 gift has made it possible for the financially tottering Elford Occupation Centre to survive 1963.

Victoria's Douglas Rotary Club raised the money for the centre, operated by the Greater Victoria Association for the Retarded.

"We'll make it through the end of the year now," says Mrs. Winnifred Clark, director of the centre.

STUMBLING ALONG

For five years now, the occupation centre on Elford Street has stumbled along without any kind of guaranteed income, living on what-ever handouts were offered and whatever money could be raised by the association.

In the coming year, it will receive a budget from the United Appeal—for the first time.

City psychologist Dr. W. H. Gades, a member of the Douglas Rotary who works professionally with retarded children, points out that financially, the Elford centre is a bargain.

Its budget is about $15,000 a year.

For that, it looks after 22 pre-school children and 17 adults—and pays staff salaries, maintains the building, tentation.

RECORD COLD ON PRAIRIES

EDMONTON (CP) — The temperature dipped to a record 36 below at Prince Albert Sunday morning as Arctic air hovered over the Prairies.

Prince Albert's previous low for Dec. 15 was 34 below in 1946 and 1919.

The weather office said temperatures will stay below zero for an undetermined period.

Snow fell in most Alberta regions throughout the week-end.

NATO

Continued from Page 1 of observation posts for preventing surprise attack and the non-dissemination of nuclear weapons as possible "peripheral areas of agreement" worth exploring with Russia.

On the split between Moscow and Peking, Butler said the two Communist giants might increase rival bidding in underdeveloped regions to the detriment of Western interests.

But he felt Communist China wanted to avoid a complete break with Russia.

Foreign Minister Gerhard Schroeder of West Germany urged the council to move cautiously in dealing with Russia.

He warned that Russia "will still for a long time be more dangerous to the free world" than Communist China and its long-range aims remained the same: World revolution, if not by force, by other ways.

The main business of the three-day parley is to assess East-West relations in the aftermath of the limited nuclear test-ban treaty and the assassination of President Kennedy.

The ministers must also decide where to go next—if they are going to move at all—in the quest for a live-and-let-live deal with the Soviet Union. Members of the 14-year-old alliance are divided over political and military strategies to counter the Communist world.

DE GAULLE OPPOSED

President de Gaulle of France openly opposes Britain's wish for a resumption of the East-West dialogue. The United States, West Germany, Turkey, Greece and Portugal are hesitant. Most of the other allies see merit in the idea. And no one seems ready to veto it.

The British do not want to see the process of reconciliation bogged down for want of initiative. They foresee a period of immobility in American foreign policy because they think President Johnson still is getting settled in the job and because a presidential election is looming. Someone, they argue, must pick up the ball.

Britain also has a national election next year, and a new approach to the Russians led by the British looks to Prime Minister Sir Alec Douglas-Home's Conservatives like a good vote.

Mr. Justice Woods concludes in his report that none of the involved parties in the privilege case acted in bad faith.

DEFENCE SPENDING CUT

'Bread Before Guns' In New Soviet Budget

MOSCOW (AP) — A cut of 4.3 per cent in the Soviet military budget and an increase of 5.3 per cent in investments for consumer goods industries during the next two years were announced today.

WON'T HURT DEFENCE

The new budget submitted to the Supreme Soviet (parliament) reflected Premier Khrushchev's proclaimed goal of giving the Russian people more bread and fewer guns. But it was only a modest start in his plans for giant boosts in fertilizer and other consumer industries in the next seven years.

With Khrushchev listening, Finance Minister Vasily Garbuzov announced the military budget for 1964 would be cut by 600,000 rubles—$666,000,000 at the official exchange rate. A cut had been promised by Khrushchev at the meeting of the Communist party central committee last week.

Without giving figures, national planner Pyotr Lomako announced additional investments in agriculture, housing, light industry and food processing in the 1964-65 period would be 53 per cent higher than in the last two years.

The military budget for 1964 totals 12,300,000,000 rubles ($14,760,000,000) out of a total government expenditure of 91,300,000,000 rubles ($101,340,000,000).

Military spending for 1963 was given as 13,900,000,000 rubles ($15,400,000,000).

Western specialists in Soviet budgets insist that approximately half the annual Soviet expenditure is associated with the military, about the same proportion as in the United States.

than in 1963, it represented a comparatively modest start on the seven-year expansion plan which Khrushchev last week said would cost $42,000,000,000 rubles, or $46,000,000,000.

Of the total budget, 68,500,000,000 rubles ($76,000,000,000) will be pumped into the national economy in 1964, Garbuzov said.

This will increase in 1965 to 74,400,000,000 rubles ($82,600,000,000).

Of these amounts, Garbuzov said 32,700,000,000 rubles would be allocated in 1964 for "social and cultural undertakings" and 34,500,000,000 rubles in 1965.

For some time observers have felt that these social and cultural expenditures include a considerable part of the experimental rocket program. The budget speech did not clarify this, however.

In companion national economic plans for 1964-65, unveiled before the Supreme Soviet by Deputy Premier Pyotr Lomako, the government scaled down its 1965 farm production goals but confidently predicted overfulfillment of its industrial output targets.

JOHNSON SIGNS BILL DOUBLING PEACE CORPS

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson has signed legislation to almost double the size of the Peace Corps and increase its financial support.

The bill, signed Friday, would authorize appropriation of $102,000,000 for the current year, an amount Congress is expected to cut in a separate money measure next week.

The Peace Corps had a $59,000,000 budget last year and the House of Representatives appropriations committee has recommended $89,000,000 for this year.

MPs Rushing Toward Session End

OTTAWA (CP)—In its typical end-of-season crush, the Commons this week will try to accomplish in a few days nearly as much work as it has done since MPs came back from summer recess in mid-September.

Their aim is prorogation of session by Friday or Saturday. The work load was outlined Saturday evening at the end of a special extra day's sitting—one that ended on discord about sitting Saturday night, or even Sunday as Arnold Peters (NDP—Timiskaming) suggested to critics of "shame."

As it turned out, the six-hour Saturday sitting ended at 6:15 p.m. with State Secretary Pickering, who calls the government business, listing this formidable timetable:

On Monday and Tuesday, at least six government bills. They are bills involving the administration and the island site of the Montreal world's fair, about $345,000,000 in capital financing for the CNR, creation of a representation committee by Postmaster-General Aezillus Denis.

Favreau Praised by All Parties

On Saturday, the Commons—with about 50 MPs turning out—spent the whole day on the estimates of the department of citizenship and immigration, but didn't approve even the first item which by tradition raises the general discussion.

Immigration Minister Guy Favreau—whose attitude to departmental affairs won praise from all parties—led off with two announcements:

1. Two new immigration offices will be opened in France as one way of trying to attract "well in excess" of 100,000 immigrants to Canada next year. In the last two years immigration had not gone over 75,000.

Peak year for post-war immigration was 1957 when 282,164 immigrants arrived.

BOY SAVED BY HEART MASSAGE

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—A team of Philadelphia doctors saved the life of a 14-month-old boy Saturday night by massaging his heart for almost an hour after the boy had swallowed part of a Christmas toy.

The infant, Patrick McBride, was brought to the Chestnut Hill Hospital at 6 p.m. by police and his father, James, who gave his son mouth-to-mouth resuscitation.

Dr. Henry M. Drinker said the boy had swallowed a small metal ball and was choking. Doctors were unable to detect a pulse or heartbeat for five or six minutes.

"Two students massaged his heart for 45 minutes," Dr. Drinker said, "before we got a beat. We got one or two and then, by about 7:05, we could stop. The heart started to function itself."

"PILGRIMAGE FOR DEMOCRACY" at Hurt Park, Atlanta, was addressed Sunday by Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr., president of Southern Christian Leadership Conference.

U.S. LOPS OFF $36,000,000

Adlai Knocks UN Fund Cut

UNITED NATIONS (AP)—The government is reviewing the Indian Act with an intention to amend it to encourage Indians to show more initiative and self-responsibility, and rely less on the federal government.

In the final act of the Saturday sitting, the Commons without debate passed a resolution leading to introduction of a bill setting up the Indian claims commission, designed to handle Indians' claims about land, treaty rights and other matters.

Eugene Rheaume (PC—Northwest Territories) called for more technological help for the Indians and said the Indian affairs branch should be abolished, perhaps over a 20-year period. He urged "a great leap into oblivion" for the branch.

Mr. Rheaume said many people say Indians are second-class citizens.

"They are second-class citizens," he said. But it wasn't because they were Indians. It was because they were cold, hungry, weakened, despised and despised.

appropriations bill. The committee cut the total in the bill Saturday to $2,800,000,000—$1,700,000,000 less than President Kennedy originally asked for.

President Johnson quickly issued a statement that the proposed reductions "would put our foreign policy in a strait-jacket."

Stevenson's statement represented a second effort from the administration side to get the House of Representatives to restore the money the committee took out of the bill. It came a day ahead of the house vote on the bill and two days ahead of a speech by Johnson to the U.N. Assembly, expected to reiterate U.S. support for the U.N.

Ownership and Control

THE QUESTION OF WHETHER Canada can maintain its political sovereignty intact in the face of growing foreign ownership or control of its key industries becomes less rhetorical and more of an urgent practical consideration each year.

The latest available figures from the Dominion Bureau of Statistics show that in the years 1960 and 1961 foreigners—mostly Americans—invested more in Canadian manufacturing than did Canadians. As a consequence foreign control rose to 59 per cent of the total at the end of 1961 compared with 57 per cent at the end of 1959.

There are two schools of thought on the significance of the steady rise in non-resident ownership and control of Canadian industry. One holds that since all business in this country operates under Canadian law, and is subject to regulation of Canadian authorities in one way or another, the actual ownership or control is not very important. The other group believes that eventually control of the economy by foreigners will be reflected in economic pressures that will put effective control of government policy in foreign hands. There are, naturally, shadings of opinion between these two extremes.

The evidence of Finance Minister Walter Gordon's ill-fated budget last June suggests that the present Liberal government at least leans toward the belief that "He who pays the piper calls the tune." There have certainly been a number of instances where grave suspicion has been aroused that Canadian policy, particularly regarding the export of goods manufactured by foreign-controlled enterprises, has been affected by decisions taken outside of this country.

There is also another important problem connected with the steady increase in foreign investment in Canada—one which has only started to become serious in more recent years as the huge blocks of foreign capital invested have started to return dividends to their owners. Back in 1948, for instance, when the inflow of capital was getting strongly under way, the outflow of dividends and interest amounted to only $325 million. Estimates for 1962 show the outflow as $781 million and indications are that this will increase sharply in the next few years.

In contrast to this outflow, dividends and interest received from Canadian capital invested abroad have increased from $70 million in 1948 to just $211 million in 1962.

Those who are concerned about the possible dangers of increasing foreign ownership of Canadian business will likely see some significance in the pattern shown by the DBS statistics. These show that while non-resident control of the oil and gas industries, and of mining and smelting, showed a decline from 73 per cent to 69 per cent and from 61 per cent to 59 per cent, respectively, non-resident control of manufacturing increased as previously mentioned.

For a country such as Canada, which is attempting to promote manufacturing and decrease its reliance on raw materials as a source of income in international trade, this shift in percentages of foreign control could be worrisome. And no doubt it will be reflected in the next federal budget in new measures designed to slow down, or even reverse, the trend toward a steady increase in foreign control of Canadian business.

It is certainly to be hoped, though, that any measures proposed will be less inept and more workable than those put forward by Mr. Gordon last June. The emphasis should not be on discouragement of foreign capital but encouragement to Canadian capital to tackle the job that needs to be done.

Feeling the Pinch

IN CONSIDERING CUTS IN HIS military expenditures for the coming year, Mr. Khrushchev has two good incentives. The demand for huge military establishments has eased with current lessening of global tensions and the evolution of a more promising international situation. Secondly, he can't afford the high cost of huge armaments, particularly in view of his recent crop failure and consequent grain shortage.

A reduction in standing armies is no longer, of course, a measure of a country's disarmament. Missiles, detection systems and nuclear arms are the chief interest—and the chief expense—of defence departments. But Mr. Khrushchev is also reportedly contemplating an overall cut in defence costs as well as a reduction in manpower.

In this he is facing the same problems that assail many Western countries, not excepting Canada. Just how significant his defence cuts will be, of course, never come to light. Certainly they will not be allowed to weaken the Soviet Union in any serious way.

But if they prove to be valid, they might well be viewed as an invitation to Western nations to do likewise and this should receive the consideration of the democracies. We may not be able to achieve a disarmament agreement, but we might be able to effect a certain measure of mutual disarmament on the practical basis of voluntary, matching reductions.

Lower Fares Coming?

FROM MONTREAL COMES A report that airlines operating across the North Atlantic have agreed tentatively on sweeping fare cuts ranging downward from $100.

This may mark a break in the deadlock which has prevented a decision on fare cuts in recent months. Approval will depend on the votes of the companies concerned and their governments.

Most of the lines operating over that route agreed at earlier Saarburg meetings that reductions were necessary. No agreement could be reached at that time on how the cuts were to be made or how much they should be.

Trans-Canada sought the most drastic pruning of existing charges, contending that airlines now flying half-empty aircraft over the North Atlantic would earn more by lowering their prices in order to fill the vacant seats. The Canadian company's proposal was unacceptable to others and a stalemate resulted.

The issue has evidently been threshed out again by representatives at Nassau in recent days. Specific cuts have been suggested and may be adopted, because if no action is taken there will be no schedule of tariffs after April 1, when the present agreement runs out.

Canadians are interested in lower fares for several reasons. Some of them want to fly to Britain or to the continent and would benefit directly from reductions. All Canadians would profit if a downward revision in charges boosted traffic to the extent that earnings were higher. Greater revenue would be an automatic boon to the nation as a whole since TCA is a nationally-owned line.

Moreover, if earnings increase on the North Atlantic it would seem reasonable to use them to help lower domestic rates to the advantage of every Canadian who uses this form of transport.

Central Saanich Beaches

CENTRAL SAANICH COUNCIL earns high marks for its endorsement of the principle that beaches within its jurisdiction should be kept open to the public and as free as possible from government restrictions.

Whether or not the application for a foreshore lease at Thompson Cove in Saanich Inlet threatens that principle may be open to question. The applicant, who already has a boathouse on the shore and other installations, apparently wants to improve his boat landing and the beach in question.

If this can be done without interfering with public use of the beach below high water and with adequate provision for anyone to cross the area, the lease may be inoffensive. Certainly such leases are valuable in certain instances. Marinas, for example, can improve the public recreational use of such areas.

The present application, of course, is one for study by the government department concerned and by the council, representing the people in general.

Whatever the outcome of such study, Central Saanich appears alert to its public duty to preserve access. For that it deserves praise.

THE LINK WITH THE WEST

The True Postwar German Miracle Is One of the Mind

THERE are two German miracles and we hear too little about the second. This view, and other personal opinions expressed in these articles, are based on nothing more than the observations of a crowded 16-day visit to the federal republic and to Berlin. It should be added that the visit was the first by this correspondent since the dreary winter of 1946 when Hamburg Centre was a pile of rubble and Berlin a wilderness of such universal destruction that it was almost impossible to pick out landmarks for guidance by night when seeking to find one's way back to Am Zoo hotel.

These are poor credentials. But there are times—I think the days of shock following the assassination of Mr. Kennedy were one such period—when it may be possible to learn a good deal about a people in a short space.

Every scrap of evidence that we found, and everything we heard from those entitled to speak with some authority of Germany, pointed to the same conclusion. It is one that I wish particularly to emphasize because it seems to me that, in contrast to some of my colleagues on the Free Press, I have been too little disposed since 1946 to give the Germans their due.

Always in the past occupation spelled misery for the German masses. But the present association has coincided with the greatest prosperity ever known. There is no unemployment, even in beleaguered Berlin. Elsewhere jobs so far exceed applicants that a state, which has already absorbed 9,000,000 refugees, now provides favorable employment for a million foreign workers; Italians, Greeks, Spaniards, Yugoslavs.

This remarkable post-war experience, beginning with the Marshall Plan, could scarcely have failed to make a deep impression on the Germans. They seldom miss an opportunity to jeer at the Third Reich which, as they constantly remind the visitor, was to have endured 1,000 years. Democracy, the tender plant of 1948, seems tough and healthy now, supported as it is by two parties which probably differ less from each other than the contemporary British Conservatives and socialists.

There may still be too much conformity, as some thoughtful Germans insist, but after all the barbed wire is only a few miles away. If peace has somehow survived, it is due in no small measure to German self-discipline.

Authority Criticized

In any case the Germans we met were by no means reluctant to criticize authority, whether political or industrial. The Berliner who drove us around a great automobile plant was as much "against the government" as any Irishman. "In that building," he told us, "we have the brains trust. They provide the ideas." After a moment of reflection, he added: "We are still waiting for the first one."

The two principal variants of the English language are to be heard everywhere.

We spent some time in Bavaria with a gentleman who had acquired not only American speech but, in an almost uncanny degree, American mannerisms. Elsewhere jobs so far exceed applicants that a state, which has already absorbed 9,000,000 refugees, now provides favorable employment for a million foreign workers; Italians, Greeks, Spaniards, Yugoslavs.

Language is of limited significance; English was an important subject even in the schools of national socialist Germany. But what one sees everywhere are habits of thought so much like our own that the effects are sometimes startling.

Just Like Home

In Bonn, for example we spent an hour with two politicians, one a Social Democrat, the other a Conservative, who resembled their Ottawa counterparts that we might have seen in the cafeteria of the House of Commons. The illusion was complete when one leaned across the table to ask: "How is Stan Knowles these days?"

All the talk, sooner or later, comes around to the theme of integration with the West, with the Common Market and allied arrangements considered as stepping stones to the larger design of an Atlantic economic and eventually political community.

Nothing was so revealing of German sentiments as the absolutely astonishing reaction of Germans everywhere to the assassination in Dallas. One would have expected official observances, memorial services, tributes, flags at half-mast.

For more impressive, however, were all the spontaneous acts owing little or nothing to official inspiration. It was very hard to believe that this was the enemy country of 18 years ago.

to take second place to the hard necessity for carrying on effective government is hard to laugh off.

The extracts from this volume published in the weekly editions of a number of newspapers failed to do justice to the author. It is perhaps but natural that for journalistic purposes the most controversial episodes should have been selected.

Objective

The impression all too easily conveyed from these extracts that Professor Neatby set out to do a "debunking" job would be quite erroneous. There is no evident disposition to gloss over weaknesses and errors, nor is there undue adulation of the hero. The chief quality of Neatby's approach is his fine objectivity.

It is a tribute to the author's scholarly workmanship and literary skill in this volume that the reader tends to become so absorbed in the subject matter that he forgets the superb craftsmanship that has presented it to him so agreeably.

Clearly, in the light of what Neatby has uncovered, the nub of the controversy was complete misunderstanding by the Governor-General, not necessarily of the constitutional principle, but of the extent to which his Prime Minister had accepted the vice-regal interpretation of the position in 1925.

Neatby's own conclusion that constitutional theory and nice points of honor have aside from any point of honor involved, the plain fact is that Mackenzie King was much too cautious and canny to have given any such advance pledge as Byng considered he had obtained.

Clearly, in the light of what Neatby has uncovered, the nub of the controversy was complete misunderstanding by the Governor-General, not necessarily of the constitutional principle, but of the extent to which his Prime Minister had accepted the vice-regal interpretation of the position in 1925.

The writer's style is clear and fluid. The pages of notations at the end of the book indicating the manifold sources of his facts inspire confidence in the thoroughness of the research upon which the work is based. The mechanical and physical quality of the book reflect credit upon publisher and editor.

History of Country

The King biography, it may be observed, is but one of a notable series of books emerging from the University of Toronto Press and other publishing houses during the past few years illuminating the current history of this country. Canada is gradually catching up on a field that had too long been neglected.

Professor Neatby has dedicated his volume to Jacqueline, a fact that somewhat startled this reviewer, reading the book as he did when a certain Jacqueline was the central figure in a world tragedy.

To save other readers from similar confusion, especially such readers as tend to skip "prefaces" and "forewords," it may be stated that buried in the middle of a paragraph of the preface is to be found an explanation. The author expresses his gratitude to a number of people who aided him in his research. Among them he lists Miss Jacqueline Cote who "in 1961 left the Archives to become Mrs. Neatby."

Mackenzie King played many parts in his long and varied career. His biographers have so far failed to uncover any other instance where he played the role of Cupid.

Sensitivity to Poison Ivy

A geologist, Edward A. Gribi, Jr., writes me a very helpful letter, telling me of his wide experience with poison ivy—which he is constantly encountering as he walks through brush and deep grass. He says that the worst time for him is in the late spring when the plants are the most lush, and most full of the volatile oil that causes the trouble. He says that this oil can take several days to work through a man's clothing. Hence, it is wise to have trousers and long-sleeved shirts changed every day, and cleaned.

Another good point he makes is that he can prevent a rash from coming if he can wash the exposed portions of his body with soap and hot water within from four to eight hours after he comes in from a trip. He says the oil is not very soluble in water; hence one should use hot water and a strong brand of soap. Sun-tanned areas are less sensitive to the oil, and less likely to develop a rash than are tender areas such as those inside the arm and on the back of the leg.

Interesting is the observation that boots and shoes tend to pick up and hold the oil; hence they should be changed each day and allowed to dry out. The oil is likely to injure the skin around the shoe tops.

Alvarez

Curiously, he says a man should wash the inside of his watch band with soap and water because the oil tends to accumulate there and to cause a distressing patch of inflammation.

My correspondent is not enthusiastic about most of the available treatments for a rash when it comes out, but he has obtained relief with the help of antihistaminic drugs, and ointments containing an anesthetic, such as benzocaine. This can help in cutting down on itching. The geologist has not had good luck with efforts at immunization to the toxin of poison ivy. He thinks that the prompt washing of the skin is best method of preventing trouble.

Doubtless many a sensitive woman, and especially the mother of boys who love to walk over hillsides where they may run into poison ivy, could save herself much misery if, whenever she picks up their trousers, or socks, or shoes, she would use gloves or tongs, or perhaps would immediately wash her hands with hot water and soap. She must be careful also if she has a dog or a cat that goes hunting through the grass on a nearby hill. The animal can bring her the irritant oil.

Drinking Habits Vary

Watering of potted plants still appears to be the greatest problem among the indoor gardeners.

Yet there is no cut and dried rule for guidance except to give water "when needed."

In the end, it depends entirely on the power of observation and the experience of the individual.

Lacking both, calamity is likely to strike for we can only advise water to be given according to the type of plant, time of year, and again, the plant's needs at the moment.

Borrowing Legislation— Constitutional

OTTAWA (CP)—The Supreme Court of Canada ruled today in a judgment with far-reaching implications that legislation that has protected Ontario borrowers for 50 years is constitutional.

The court in a 5-to-2 decision granted an appeal by the Ontario attorney-general's department against a judgment in October, 1962, by the Ontario Court of Appeal ruling that the Unconstitutional Transactions Act was invalid.

"The appeal is allowed, the order of the Court of Appeal for Ontario is set aside, and it is held that the Unconstitutional Transactions Relief Act is within the powers of the legislature of the province of Ontario," the majority judgment said.

LEGISLATION LEGAL

The court's decision means that while the field of interest is a federal responsibility, a province can legislate to prevent money-lenders from charging excessive interest rates.

The majority judgment, written by Mr. Justice Wilfred Judson, said:

"In my opinion, it is not legislation in relation to interest but legislation relating to amendment or reformation of contract on the grounds set out in the act, namely, (A) that the cost of the loan is excessive, and (B) that the transaction is harsh and unconscionable."

The wording of the statute indicates that it is not the rate or amount of interest which is the concern of the legislation but whether the transaction as a whole is one which it would be proper to maintain as having been freely consented to by the debtor."

Supporting his decision were Chief Justice Robert Taschereau and Justices Gerald Fauteux, Emmett Hall and John R. Cartwright.

The minority finding was written by Mr. Justice Ronald Martland and concurred in by Mr. Justice Roland Ritchie.

Labor Man Now Heads MSA Board

VANCOUVER (CP)—Fred Fleber, a top labor official, has been elected president of the Medical Services Association, thus giving labor control of MSA's eight-man tri-partite board.

Vice-president is Dr. D. S. Munroe, elected to MSA's board of directors at the association's annual meeting.

Mr. Fleber, secretary-treasurer of regional council of the International Woodworkers of America, succeeds G. L. Draeseke, vice-president of Rayonier of Canada Limited.

He said he has asked Mr. Draeseke to continue as chairman of an MSA committee which has been negotiating with the B.C. Medical Association on a new fee schedule.

Two of the eight directors of MSA represent the medical profession. Two represent employers and Mr. Fleber and the other three represent labor. In case of a deadlock on any issue the chairman casts a second vote, thus labor has five votes to the "doctors' and employers' total of four.

RENEGADE IN POWER

'Martyrdom' Ends Dief's Years

INSTALMENT No. 12: THE 1963 ELECTION
This is the final of a series of 12 excerpts taken from the much longer version contained in RENEGADE IN POWER: THE DIEFENBAKER YEARS, copyright Canada, 1963, Peter C. Newman; published by McClelland & Stewart.

By PETER C. NEWMAN

It seemed such a short time since that glorious spring of 1957 when the man from Prince Albert had first soared into the heady reaches of power, inflated with his proud ambition, and buoyed up by the people's trust. Yet less than six years later, in the crueler springtime of 1963, the Conservative ministry was collapsing like a defective balloon at a spoiled child's birthday party.

John Diefenbaker was being criticized on all sides, derided by his one-time disciples, abandoned by his closest colleagues.

At home, newspapers that once sanctified his every idiosyncrasy were calling for his resignation. Abroad, usually circumspect statesmen were gently leaking the word that Diefenbaker's defeat would be highly desirable. As he pushed into his 10th federal election campaign, he seemed to stand almost as alone as he had more than two decades before, when he had first come out of the West.

But John Diefenbaker had always felt that he stood alone. He had fought his way to the party leadership by himself, tried to govern the country alone, and now he faced the political climax of his life, still alone and still fighting.

Many of the nation's editorial writers wondered why, when the odds seemed to be so heavily stacked against him, Diefenbaker still insisted on clinging to the prime ministership, thus risking not only his own humiliation but permanent damage to his party. The answer lay buried deep in the complexities of the man's character.

No matter who or what conspired against him, Diefenbaker adhered with scarcely diminished faith to the sacredness of his own mission. He felt that he was bound to win the 1963 election campaign, because he was somehow meant to have power.

'I Have No Competitors'

In planning their campaign strategy, the primary concern of the Conservative leader's chief political advisers, Dalton Camp and Roy Faibisoff, was to revive that mystic bond between Diefenbaker and "the average Canadian," which had been forged in the 1957 and 1958 campaigns. This meant that the prime minister's claim for re-election would have to be based, not on the authority of his office, as had been attempted in 1962, but on a direct, emotional appeal to the people.

In the campaign's initial stages Camp and Faibisoff were more concerned with the effect the crowds would have on Diefenbaker than with the impression he might make on his audiences. They wanted Diefenbaker to come face to face again with the voters' yearning for leadership, which had awokened in him the charismatic qualities that had inspired the triumphs of his first two campaigns.

To achieve this rapport, Diefenbaker's first tour of the campaign was scheduled as a whistle-stop journey through the Prairies. His train pulled out of Ottawa's Union Station shortly after midnight on Feb. 28.

The next morning, at his first train-board press conference, he was asked: "Have you given any thought to appearing on television with your competitors?" Diefenbaker glared at his inquisitor, and replied: "I have no competitors." It was a bold beginning for a politician who only three weeks before had very nearly been overthrown by his own followers.

Between Winnipeg and Saskatoon, Diefenbaker was scheduled to leave his train only at Melville, Watrous and Semans, where local Tory organizers were set to produce sizable advance crowds. But the timetable had to be changed when word of his tour got around, and people began spontaneously to gather on station platforms at Ituna, Nokomis, and other flag stops.

The local station agents advised the campaign caravan of the crowds, asking Diefenbaker at least to wave as his train went by. Instead, the prime minister ordered the train to halt at every stop.

The inhabitants of the flat, sad little towns turned out by the hundreds in the March chill to pay deference to their champion. As Diefenbaker strode the station platforms, shaking hands and patting shoulders, a scramble of adoring children followed his every move.

'And Oh, It's a Long Hill'

During his six years in office, John Diefenbaker had been discredited by most of the people who could be said to belong to Canada's Establishment. But he knew no matter how the nation might pretend it had become a great trading force or an arbiter of significance in the cold war, that the real source of political power in Canada still lay close to the soil.

Let the dwellers in the sophisticated world of the cities and suburbs deride him. Now, he was coming home to the people he understood and who understood him.

When he told a cluster of his supporters, as he did at Duck Lake, Sask., "They say I've made mistakes, you know. But they've been mistakes of the heart," his audience knew exactly what he meant.

"I'm going across this nation," he told them, "and I'm going to look into the face of Canada, to meet the people, to carry a message of hope . . . . The last time, I flew over the people. This time, I'm down on the ground with you. I'm not asking for the support of the powerful, the strong, and the mighty, but of the average Canadian, the group to which I belong."

Diefenbaker's strategy was a revelation of himself. Although he had governed Canada since 1957, he all but ignored his own record in office. At a Winnipeg press conference, following his first Prairie tour, when asked to name the main issue of the campaign, he replied: "The record of the Opposition, the falsification by the Opposition, that's the issue as I see it."

DREAM STUFF JUST POISON?

NEW YORK (AP)—A world authority on sleep and dreams suggested Saturday that dreams are made of poison. Dr. William Dement, a neurophysiologist at Sanford University's school of medicine, Palo Alto, Calif., said experiments on humans and animals indicate that the central nervous system creates a poison naturally. He suggested that it was the body's efforts to clear the nervous system of that poison that initiated dreams.

Variety was the spice of the curling life of Bob Dean in a 16-rink invitational bonspiel Saturday at Allan's Curling Club.

Skipping the Nanaimo rink he will enter in Island play-downs, Dean used three methods to follow an upset trail to a victory worth $100 in the 'spit's "A" event.'

Dean started with an easy win over Victoria's Al Moonie and then battled from behind on the last end to squeeze by

He stepped back on easy street to coast to an upset 9-4 triumph over Duncan's reigning B.C. champion, Glen Harper, in the semifinal.

BARELY HELD ON

Dean, calling shots for Ross McNabb, Dick Provost and Herman Dyck, followed another course in the final. He barely survived a case of home-stretch jitters after building up a 7-0 lead against Victoria's Tony Gutowski, the 1958 provincial champion, but held on for a 9-8 win.

Gutowski, who picked up $50, was working with Jim Dickson, Gary Leibel and Corky Davis.

Color Canadiens Blue... They Lost Both Battles

By United Press International
The embattled New York Rangers still languish in the National Hockey League cellar but at least they had the satisfaction of winning two decisions in one night.

They not only snapped a nine-game winless streak with a 4-2 victory over Montreal Sunday night but also were the winners in a battle royal that involved eight of the 12 players on the ice during the first period.

Six players wound up with major penalties for fighting—Vic Hadfield, Larry Cahan and Jim Neilson of the Rangers, and Terry Harper, Jean Guy Talbot and Gilles Tremblay of the Canadiens.

Cahan outslugged Talbot in the best of all the bouts on the ice and the Rangers then wrapped up the game on two goals by Rod Gilbert and one by Hadfield in the final period.

Ranger goalie Jacques Plante, who had yielded 23 goals in five previous games against his former Canadian teammates, finally gained his first victory against them.

Boston and Toronto played to a 4-4 tie as did first-place Chicago and Detroit in other Sunday games.

Third period goals by Forbes Kennedy and Dean Prentice earned the Bruins their deadlock with the Leafs, who moved into a second-place tie with the Canadiens.

Detroit gained its tie with Chicago on Eddie Joyal's third period goal. The tie brought the Hawks' unbeaten string of home ice to 15 games.

Don Leo Beats Roy McClarty

Huge Don Leo Johnson defeated Roy McClarty in the main event of Saturday night's professional wrestling card at Memorial Arena.

He won in two straight falls when McClarty, bopped with a chair, was unable to return to the ring in time to avoid losing the second fall.

In other matches before 1,100 fans, Whippy Billy Watson grappled to a draw with Gene Kiniski; Waldo von Eric was disfigured in his tussle with Dan Miller; Bill Watt downed Kinji Shibuya; Ripper Leone beat Dick Garza and Ted McKenzie defeated Bob Morse.

TOURISTS IN CALGARY . . .

Czechs Anxious 'to Learn'

CALGARY — The Czechoslovakian star-studded Olympic squad arrived in Calgary Saturday and immediately said they hoped to "learn something" from the professional National Hockey League.

The amateur club, ranked with the Russian and Swedish national teams as one of Europe's best, play 11 games in Canada, three against Canada's Olympic team and one at Chicago against the United States Olympic team.

They open their North American tour Tuesday night against a local all-star team at the Stampede Corral. Wednesday they play Canada's national team in Victoria.

Dr. Zdenek Andra, president of the Czech hockey federation and team manager, said his club would play any NHL team.

"We're not interested in meeting a minor professional club," he said through an interpreter. "We'd like to play the best no matter if we lose by five or 10 goals because we can learn something."

American tour Tuesday night against a local all-star team at the Stampede Corral. Wednesday they play Canada's national team in Victoria.

Coach Juraj Anton and 26 team members, weary after a long trans-polar flight from Prague, did not appear at Saturday's press conference.

Anton, a former national team player, has worked to re-establish a defensive system he believes a major reason for Czechoslovakia's defeat by Russia at the world championships last year.

"We're not interested in meeting a minor professional club," he said through an interpreter. "We'd like to play the best no matter if we lose by five or 10 goals because we can learn something."

Coach Juraj Anton and 26 team members, weary after a long trans-polar flight from Prague, did not appear at Saturday's press conference.

He added he knew little about the Olympic team, coached by Rev. David Bauer.

"He's a lot of young players and he could become a strong contender." He said he believed Russia will be favored to capture the Olympic title next year at Innsbruck, Austria.

Father Bauer's club and the Czechs also meet in Vancouver (Dec. 22) and in Sudbury (Jan. 12).

Dr. Zdenek, in a good-natured interview, he hoped the new Olympic team is better than as well as in Victoria.

Bears and Giants Have Met Before

Tittle to Test Best Defence On Dec. 29

By UP International

It will be the Chicago Bears' superb defence against Y. A. Tittle and pro football's most explosive offence in the National League's championship playoff, Dec. 29.

Who could ask for a more dramatic match-up? Although the Bears should be slight favorites for the showdown at Chicago, the New York Giants undoubtedly consider them a refreshing change from the Green Bay Packers, who walloped them two straight years in the title game.

This will be the sixth playoff meeting between the Bears and Giants. No NFL division rivals ever have met as many times. The Bears haven't won a play-off title since 1946—when they beat the Giants. The Giants' last playoff win was in 1956—when they beat the Bears.

The Bears clinched their 10th western crown Sunday when Billy Wade took some pressure off the over-worked defence by throwing a pair of third-period touchdown strikes that produced a 24-14 victory over the Detroit Lions.

Packers Face Browns

The Giants extended their record total of eastern division championships to 14 with a 33-17 victory over Pittsburgh Steelers in their winner-take-all game in New York.

Both conference races thus were decided on the final Sunday of the season. Chicago finished with a record of 11 wins, one defeat and two ties; the Giants have an 11-3 record.

The Packers and Cleveland Browns wound up in second place to qualify for the playoff (runner-up) bowl game at Miami, Fla., Jan. 5. Cleveland defeated Washington Redskins 27-20, giving them a 10-4 record. The Packers edged San Francisco 49ers, 21-17, Saturday to finish with 11 wins, two defeats and one tie.

In Sunday's other games, Dallas Cowboys upset St. Louis Cardinals, 28-24; Baltimore Colts edged Los Angeles Rams, 19-16; and Minnesota Vikings trounced Philadelphia Eagles, 34-13.

To get an idea of the offence vs. defence battle shaping up in the title playoff game: The Giants scored a total of 448 points during the season, 79 more than any other team in the NFL and 147 more than Chicago. The Bears held opponents to 144 points, 62 less than any other club in the league and 136 less than the Giants.

Pop-Gun Offence

Sunday's 24-14 score does not adequately tell the tale of the Bears' defence played in the victory. The defenders held the Lions within range while the Bears' pop-gun offence could produce only a field goal in the first half.

Wade helped overcome the 7-3 halftime deficit by completing a pair of touchdown passes within three minutes and 21 seconds of the third period. He threw 51 yards to Johnny Morris and 22 yards to Mike Ditka for a 17-7 lead.

The Lions, still full of fight, battled back to score on a fourth run by Terry Barr and then the Bears' defence was called on for its finest efforts to keep Detroit from going ahead. First, the Bears stopped a Detroit penetration to the Chicago 27-yard line. Then, in the final minute, Dave Whitsell intercepted a pass and ran 39 yards for a clinching touchdown with only 25 seconds remaining.

Wade threw three scoring passes against the Steelers to set an NFL record of 36 for a season. Joe Morrison caught two of these and scored another touchdown on a one-yard plunge.

Two Crucial Plays

The two crucial plays of the game, however, were a fumble by the Steelers' Gary Ballman after he had caught a pass and was about a stride from the goal line; and a spectacular one-handed catch of a low pass by New York's Frank Gifford that started the Giants on an important touchdown drive.

Ballman, after catching the pass from Ed Brown early in the game, had the ball knocked out of his hands by Dick Lynch of the Giants. The ball rolled into the end zone, where New York's Erich Barnes picked it up and ran it out 34 yards. Tittle shortly followed with a 41-yard touchdown bomb to Del Shofner.

Gifford made his amazing grab of a 30-yard pass immediately after the Steelers had cut the Giants' lead to 16-10 in the third period. Another 25-yard pass to Gifford and a 22-yarder to Morrison on the next two plays produced a New York touchdown. On the next series Munro was assessed $25 for failing to keep his team under control.

In addition, eight players whose names were not immediately released, were fined $5 each for leaving the bench to join the fight.

SPORTS SHORTS

Limeking Shook —So Did Pilot

A bucking horse, a winner on the turf but a spoil-sport in the air, forced a big air freighter into an emergency landing over the Irish Sea Sunday.

The horse is Limeking, who won $7,047 for his owner, Alfred Chestery Beatty Jr., in a 2½-mile steeplechase at Cheltenham over the weekend.

The Packer and Cleveland Browns wound up in second place to qualify for the playoff (runner-up) bowl game at Miami, Fla., Jan. 5. Cleveland defeated Washington Redskins 27-20, giving them a 10-4 record.

On his way home to Dublin, high over the Irish Sea, Limeking started kicking his stall to pieces. This contributed nothing to the pilot's control of the airplane.

A groom forced a sedative down Limeking's throat. But the Irish in Limeking went right on kicking. The pilot headed for the nearest field at Trefor, Wales, and Limeking continued home by sea.

Said trainer Danny Morgan: "I don't know what got into him. He's flown several times before with no hint of trouble."

This also happened in the world of sport.

IN FOOTBALL . . . Ara Parseghian, 40, an inspired leader with a flair for explosive offences, has been given a four-year contract to coach at Notre Dame University. Parseghian had a 36-35 won-lost record at Northwestern. He replaces interim coach Hugh Devore whose 1963 Irish were 2-7. Devore becomes assistant athletic director.

REGINA (CP)—Saskatchewan Roughriders of the Western Football Conference announced the resignation of backfield coach Bob Dennis.

The club said Dennis resigned to accept a business post in Roswell, N.M.

Dennis, along with line coach Gord Ackerman, came to Regina with head coach Bob Shaw last winter. The three men had coached together at the New Mexico Military Academy in Roswell.

Bus Fare Hike Likely in April

By FRANK BUTTER
A B.C. Hydro bus fare hike is likely next April.

It was learned today that Hydro directors have had the matter "under consideration."

So far, they have not reached a firm decision.

But there appears to be some agreement that a fare boost is needed to offset mounting annual deficits in both Victoria and Vancouver transit operations.

Biggest pressure is coming from transit manager Sig Sigmundson, who last fall made a public pitch for a fare boost.

20-CENT FARE

He says it will take a 20-cent fare, in Vancouver at least, in order to break even.

Current fares are 15 cents in Vancouver, 13 in Victoria.

However, one of the main problems at present is how to effect the increase.

The transit system came under the jurisdiction of the B.C. Public Utilities Commission when it was a private operation of the B.C. Electric Company.

Its new status has never been clearly defined since the government took over the company.

But officials believe if it wanted a fare boost now, it would have to get PUC approval.

The court case decided in December by a private settlement has left some doubts about the status of all legislation affecting B.C. Hydro.

Attorney-General Robert Bonner has already stated that there will be some new legislation.

This is expected during the new session of the legislature starting Jan. 23.

DEFINITION

Legal officials said they expect the question of transit jurisdiction will be defined in any new law.

This would enable Hydro to go ahead with a rate hike as soon as the law is finally approved—by royal consent at the end of the session.

This is usually late in March. So the earliest possible date for an increase in bus fares is April.

Liberal Lawyers Favored In Drug Cases?

OTTAWA (CP)—Liberal party patronage exists in prosecution of narcotics addiction cases in Vancouver, Frank Howard (NDP—Skeena) suggested Friday night in the Commons.

He said Vancouver lawyer Wilbert Heffernan is "back in business" in that field although during the Conservative reign "Mr. Heffernan and other Liberal lawyers were out of the picture."

Had Justice Minister Chevrier "put into effect the Liberal legal patronage list that existed prior to 1957?" Mr. Howard asked.

Mr. Chevrier said "there is no Liberal patronage list so far as I am concerned." Drug addiction cases lasted sometimes for a number of years and Conservative-appointed lawyers were still acting in some cases.

Mr. Howard said Mr. Chevrier really was saying that as soon as such cases and non-Liberal lawyers will be dropped.

SINATRA KIDNAP SUSPECTS

'Hardly the Types for a Big Job ...'

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Who are the three men accused of kidnapping Frank Sinatra Jr.? an unemployed appliance salesman described by his former wife as a man who lived beyond his means and had "an obsession for money."

FRIENDS ASTONISHED

Friends were astonished, relatives shocked when the FBI dramatically broke its long silence on the case Saturday, announcing that the three men had been arrested, that nearly all the ransom money had been recovered and that no other suspects were being sought.

What do the three have in common, besides their purported craving for easy money?

The house painter is 42-year-old John Williams Irwin, a man with an unspectacular record of arrests dating back 16 years.

The fisherman is Joseph Clyde Amsler, 23, a former navy man and a professional boxer arrested several times for petty offences and married only a month ago.

Federal Education Board Urged to Support French

By GUY RONDEAU

QUEBEC (CP)—The establishment of federal department of education was recommended to the Canadian Association of French-Language

Educationists Saturday as a means of maintaining French culture outside Quebec province except Newfoundland.

Gaston Dugas, information director for Montreal's Roman Catholic school board, made the suggestion at a study session attended by five members of the federal royal commission on bilingualism and biculturalism.

The study session, devoted to the problems of bilingualism and biculturalism, brought together some 200 educationists representing every province except Newfoundland.

Andre Laurendeau, co-chairman of the royal commission, told delegates the royal commission will investigate most aspects of Canadian life but will pay particular attention to education, communications and economic, social and cultural life.

Mr. Dugas said that if the royal commission can look into almost anything, "why don't we ask it to study the possibility of creating not one but two federal departments of education, one French and the other English?"

If the provinces continued to have complete jurisdiction in education, he doubted that a constitutional amendment to define more clearly the rights of French-Canadians to education in French could lead to practical results.

French Canadians outside Quebec would remain a weak minority, he said, and political realities would prevent the application of their rights.

He suggested French-Canadians are "a national force" and should have "an absolute or almost absolute" control over their schools.

IDEA OPPOSED

Abbe Gerard Dion, professor of social sciences at Laval University, wondered whether French Canada should not abandon efforts to organize French-Canadian institutions in areas where the French-speaking minority is very small.

Abbe Benoit Paris, chaplain of the French-Canadian Association of Saskatchewan, opposed the idea. Despite difficulties, there is a growing movement in favor of maintaining the "French fact," he said.

But Rev. Ludger Guy, director of studies at St. Boniface College, declared:

"It's all over for the mass of French-Canadians in Manitoba."

Within a short time, he said, his 100-year-old institution may have to close.

"We have maintained French against all odds but it must be recognized that our young people are no longer French."

14 Victoria Daily Times | WHILE BOLIVIA TIN MINERS RAGED
MONDAY, DEC. 16, 1963

Landlady Helped Canadians Escape

TORONTO (CP) — Two Canadians reported to have been taken hostage by rebellious tin miners at Siglo Veinte, Bolivia, actually eluded the miners with the aid of the woman proprietor of their staff house, it was learned here.

The story of their escape was brought to Canada by Herbert H. Cox of Toronto, vice-president of Prospection Limited, a firm that has been doing geological and mining survey work in Bolivia since 1960.

The Canadians were Raymond Brousseau, 28, of Cobalt, Ont., and Aurele Falardeau, 34, of Ville Marie, Que., both diamond drillers.

As Falardeau related the story to him later, said Mr. Cox, Brousseau and he were sought along with other foreigners as hostages because the miners became enraged at the arrest by the government of two leaders of their Communist-led union.

Falardeau told how a number of armed miners came to the staff house about 9 p.m. Dec. 6 and asked the woman proprietor: "Where are the Canadians?" She told them the Canadians had left, and the miners went away.

But they returned in a more hostile mood about 11 p.m. The woman met them while the Canadians hid beneath a bed.

About 3 a.m. the miners, now drunk and enraged, returned again. At the woman's instructions Falardeau and Brousseau hid in a small attic.

Armed with rifles and dynamite, the miners forced their way into the staff house and searched it but did not go up to the attic.

The two Canadians during the next six days made their way to La Paz, Bolivia's capital. They arrived there Thursday night.

Two other Canadians in Bolivia were also said to have escaped from the miners, but simply turned them down and made his way to La Paz.

Robert Morrison, 37, of Toronto, heard that the miners were seeking foreign hostages and escaped by driving away over back roads. Morrison is a geologist conducting a survey for the United Nations in the Catavi area.

Mr. Cox said that James McNamee, 30, of Kingston, Ont., a geologist conducting a survey for the United Nations in the Catavi area.

ADRIFT TWO DAYS

Fisherman's Rescue 'Evens Score'

For Captain Eric Carlson, of Lopez Island, the score has been evened.

Eight years ago, he and the crew of his purse seiner rescued two Canadians, a boy and an old man clinging to a capsized boat.

Saturday afternoon, Capt. Carlson, who is 50, and his dog were rescued by the Canadian icebreaker Camsell after they had been drifting in Juan de Fuca Strait for two days.

He is resting comfortably in the Veterans' Hospital today.

Capt. Carlson was on his way home from Seattle to Lopez Island in the San Juan group in his 19-foot gillnetter.

Reorganization Asked in Welfare At Campbell River

CAMPBELL RIVER—A complete reorganization of social welfare services here has been requested.

Upper Island Health Unit, social welfare department, probationary service and hospital officials have asked the B.C. government to staff the area with two full-time field workers and a clerical staff. This was the minimum number of workers needed to do the necessary job, officials decided at a special meeting.

At present, a social worker from Courtenay operates in Campbell River and district on a part-time basis. This is pointed out, is precisely the same situation as existed 10 years ago despite the population expansion.

Magistrate Roderick Haig-Brown was named to head a committee to press for reorganization of the welfare service.

FARM HAND DROWNS

SUMNER, Wash. (AP)—Ebens Norris, 46, an itinerant farm worker from Westhollow, V.I., drowned early Sunday in the Puyallup River.

His body was found several hours later by two fishermen.

Sheriff's officers said Norris apparently lost his balance and fell from a bridge three miles south of here. He had been working in the Puyallup Valley.

2 Men Die In Mishaps On W. Coast

PORT ALBERNI—Two men died in separate accidents in Port Alberni over the weekend.

An inquest will be held tonight to determine the cause of the death of Rochester Peters, 59, a resident of the Alberni Indian reserve, who died in hospital Saturday after being struck by a car at Third Ave. and Dunbar Friday night.

Police said the driver of the car was a juvenile.

An inquiry into the death of Bruno Wedans, 39, who drowned early Saturday, will be held later this week.

Police said Wedans missed his footing on a gangplank and fell into the water between a freighter and the pulp mill of MacMillan Bloedel and Powell River Ltd.

His body was recovered.

They're Building A Better Tea Spout

CAMPBELL RIVER—Because a Campbell River housewife wasn't satisfied with a teapot that "dribbled," hostesses all across Canada will soon be much better off.

It all began in November of last year when Mrs. J. C. McDougall purchased a number of teapots to send as Christmas gifts to friends.

She kept one for herself, but was disappointed to find that it dripped around the spout when she poured. A little annoyed, thinking perhaps she had sent inferior gifts to friends, she wrote to the New York makers telling them about her feelings. She received a polite note asking her to return the faulty teapot and the promise of a new one.

Mrs. McDougall thought a new one wouldn't be any better, and promptly filed the letter away and forgot about it.

Recently, she came across the letter and on an impulse penciled a note in the corner that she had decided not to return the teapot, but thanking them for their interest.

She got the surprise of her life this week.

A letter from the factory informed Mrs. McDougall that because of her interest the teapot had been redesigned, and she would be receiving a new one shortly.

* * *

The new teapot arrived this week.

"It works like a charm," Mrs. McDougall says. "No drips."

The makers also have offered to replace the teapots she sent friends as gifts.

HE GIVES AWAY GRAND PRIZES

Is there something you want to know? Do you want to win a set of valuable books or other instructive prizes? Then ask Andy.

Andy will answer questions submitted by child readers and those who submit the questions he selects to answer will receive worthwhile prizes. The youngster who wins the first question answer will receive a copy of a 20-volume set of World Book Encyclopedia and of the second question a Hammond Atlas or Globe.

Andy sends a complete, 20-volume set of World Book Encyclopedia to Naomi Walker, age 14, of Medicine Lodge, Kan., for her question:

What is an unstable atom?

An unstable person is some what off balance and likely to explode in temper tantrums. An unstable atom is also somewhat unbalanced and likely to explode in a tantrum of searing energy. Unstable atoms, however, are more reliable than unstable people. Scientists can predict when and exactly how they will explode.

Unstable atoms are radioactive atoms. Most of them are big, fellows stuffed with particles of all kinds. In fact, one reason for their radioactivity may be because they have more particles than they can hold together. They may burst apart in radioactive decay in order to reach a more balanced arrangement of their particles. These atoms make up the radioactive elements to be found on the Periodic Table.

Some of them exist in nature. The rest have been discovered in this Atomic Age or are man-made in the laboratory. In the Periodic Table of the Chemical Elements, most of them are listed together as um, atomic number 90.

Radium Decays Slowly

As the big, unstable atoms decay into smaller atoms, they shoot off high-speed particles of various kinds, plus radioactive energy. The process of decay proceeds step by step at a definite rate. After 4.5 billion years, half a supply of radioactive uranium has decayed into a type of lead, whose atomic number is 82. This lead atom is stable and the radioactive decay is at an end.

The rate of radioactive decay is measured by the half life.

the annual Christmas bird census. Some of the more common birds they will count are shown above and below.

Could you recognize a Saw-whet Owl, a Rhinoceros Auklet or an Ancient Murrelet?

Victoria birdwatchers can—and they'll be out looking for them in this area from dawn to dusk Saturday.

The watchers, ages ranging from 14 to 75, hope to maintain, or exceed, their three-year record in the Christmas bird count conducted by Victoria Natural History Society, as part of the National Audubon Society's annual American bird census.

Equipped with spotting scopes, binoculars, notebooks, pencils, charts and gumboots, they will cover an area extending 15 miles from the city centre to Oak Bay,

Island View Beach, Goldstream and Witty's Lagoon.

Every year since 1960, local birdwatchers have spotted more species than any group across Canada. Last December, they recorded 44,146 birds of 121 species in this area. In 1961, 124 species were noted and in 1960, 115.

This year's group—about 45—will also be looking for pine grosbeaks, bluebirds, wood ducks, short-eared owls, dippers, great-horned owls, loons, grebes, heron, woodpeckers, crows and wrens—to name but a few.

Saturday's count will be co-ordinated by David Stirling, compiler of the Victoria Bird Count, assisted by

MOTEL THIEF GETS $100 FROM QRS

Two soldiers of the Queen's Own Rifles recently arrived in Victoria lost a total of $100 when their rooms were robbed at the Royal Victorian Motel, 250 Gorge.

Corporal William Maitland lost $30 from his wallet and Rifleman Andrew Kitzen lost $70 and a pair of pants. The break-ins occurred early Sunday morning.

A radio was stolen from a car parked by Jack Green side outside his home at 2501 Wards Sunday.

Harry Richardson, 3028 Quadra, found the basement door of his home was kicked in—but nothing was taken, and in an attempt was also made to enter Haultain Variety Store, 1500 Haultain, by breaking the front door.

Bird-watching, he says, is now a popular outdoor sport and few sporting groups can match birders in enthusiasm.

"Birding can be pursued all the year round and it often leads to travel and adventure. A good naturalist usually has a grounding in biology. At the same time, he does not let our deadly practical approach to our environment kill his appreciation of nature."

TREMENDOUS FUN

Bird counts, he points out, are invaluable to ornithologists, government wildlife officers, biologists and scientific studies.

"They are also tremendous fun."

Many birders spend their lunch hours studying birds and one of their favorite haunts is Clover Point, where many varieties are to be seen.

Beacon Hill Park and Horseshoe Bay are also happy "hunting" grounds for enthusiasts.

NO OBSTRUCTION

He said the trees would eventually grow to 30 or 40 feet but the bottom 10 feet of their trunks would be clear of branches "so there would be no obstruction of vision."

"But the tree tops would mask out the clutter of illuminated signs that now greet visitors and residents at that corner," he pointed out.

SHOPPING GUIDE*Christmas Card Index For Practical People

By PENNY SAVER

Your Christmas lists, like Penny's, get lost each year just when you decide to sit down and address a few cards and then suddenly, turn up three days after Christmas?

Well this year the light finally dawned and Penny went all out on a search for an indexed book especially for Christmas card lists.

One shop has just the thing—a record book with enough room for six years' lists. This small, loose-leaf-style book is priced at $1.39 and has several extra sheets in the front and the remainder are alphabetically indexed.

Something else Penny found, for those of you who like to enclose letters in some of your cards, is special Christmas writing paper. Sheets of paper are designed with candles, snowmen, poinsettias, or a simple Christmas scene. Price is five cents a sheet, 25 for 95 cents, 50 for $1.85, or 100 for $3.60.

And, if you have a family of "Christmas picture-takers" why not start a year-by-year index? Colorful photograph albums are priced at $3.50, and come in green, white, red, black and tan. Each album has eight acetate sheets and refills may be purchased for $1.50.

Pictures stick permanently to gummed surface of each page and books may be coded by their color.

An ideal gift for the person who is often pressed for time and doesn't get around to writing letters of "thanks" or "best wishes" is a box of hasty notes. Called "Select-a-Note", box is priced at $1.25 and has a variety of silver captions for pasting on the front. Captions include such greetings as "Happy Anniversary" and "Best Wishes".

If you are interested in these practical Christmas items, call Penny at 382-3131.

DEAR ABBY . . .*A Meeting's In Order!

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I married a woman who is "club happy." She joins everything she can get into—accepts offices, volunteers for committees and goes like a house afire six days a week. She keeps a date book in her purse and schedules herself for every hour. We have very little home life because she never has time to cook a meal or to spend an evening at home. Our phone rings constantly with her club business and she thinks this is popularity. When night comes she is so keyed up she has to take pills to sleep. Any suggestions?

Fitted Bodice Is Not Right for All Figures

"Dear Eunice Farmer: I am very happy with my sewing, except for one thing. I am not overweight but I do have a full rib cage, which just looks awful whenever I make a dress that is fitted at the waistline.

"Maybe it's my choice of patterns, because I don't seem to have this problem as often when I buy my clothes. What can you suggest?"

Mrs. M. S.

Dear Mrs. M. S.: This is rather common in women's figures after they have left the teens. A fitted bodice just calls attention to this and I certainly agree with you, it isn't too becoming.

Instead of making fitted darts, how about using the same amount of ease and gathering the lower edge of the bodice. This will give a soft, slightly bloused look to your dress and will be very flattering.

You may also fold the dart in at the waistline only, which would leave one or two unpressed pleats at the waist (directly under the bustline). This ease also can work beautifully.

Experiment a little and see which effect you like the best, actually, you can vary this with different patterns.

Salt Spring Island Bazaar

Holly and cedar boughs decorated the Salt Spring Island parish hall for day-long bazaar, held by the Anglican Church's Woman's Auxiliary which netted more than $300. Fair was opened by Rev. S. J. Leech and guests were welcomed by Mrs. Leech and president, Mrs. E. Worthington.

Mrs. George Laundry convened morning coffee and afternoon tea, being assisted by Mrs. W. Norton, Mrs. E. H. Newman, Mrs. W. Stone, Mrs. R. T. Cook, the Misses Brenda Sharp, Elaine Young and Sharon Warren.

Centrepieces of winter flowers and berries decorated the tables and were entries in a decorating competition by WA members. First prize, by popular choice, went to Mrs. W. H. Saunders with Mrs. N. A. Howland's entry placing second.

DEAR ABBY: How about this? My brother's wife phoned me and said, "We have some Christmas gifts for you and your family. Come and get them." They have a car, too, and they live less than ten minutes from us. I didn't want any bad feelings, so I didn't tell her off, I just said, "Thank you," and never picked them up. Now she is mad anyway. What would you have done?

STUBBORN

DEAR STUBBORN: If you had been sincere in not wanting "bad feelings," you should have picked up the gifts and kept quiet.

DEAR ABBY: Our daughter, who is 14, was invited to a slumber party at a girl friend's house. There were 12 girls in all. Some boys crashed the party. As we understand it, the girls let them in and seemed to enjoy their company, but later on they got rowdy and more boys came, and the police had to be called. We later learned that the parents of the girl who gave the party did not sleep at home. They slept at some friend's home so the girls could have an extra bedroom. Our daughter is invited to another slumber party. Her father says she can't go. I say, if we call the mother of the girl who's giving it and she says they will be home, it's all right. Our daughter says if we call the mother it will be like saying we don't trust her. What do you say?

CONCERNED

DEAR CONCERNED: I say your daughter is lucky she did not get a flat NO from both you and her Dad. I would not permit her to go unless I had the assurance of the mother that the parents would be at home. And even then, I'd think twice.

Receiving lines took on a new look Saturday afternoon when youngsters from the British Columbia Protestant Orphans' Home were guests of His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor and Mrs. George R. ## Magic of Christmas At Government House

Forty-seven youngsters, aged two to 16, went to a party Saturday afternoon. This was no ordinary party, for the starry-eyed youngsters were guests of His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor and Mrs. George R. Pearmain at Government House. What a friendly scene met the children from the British Columbia Protestant Orphans' Home when they arrived! They crowded around His Honor and shared his delight when he opened a special Christmas card they'd prepared for their host and hostess.

'The Day I Remember'

Parade Went On All Day

By PAT DUFOUR

Have you ever held a Christmas parade in your own home? Mrs. H. V. Stevens has. It was in 1953 when she and her husband were living in the New Zealand coast town of Napier.

The memory of that parade is part of the reason Mrs. Stevens calls Christmas Day 1953 a "red letter one."

"It all happened because we decided to cherish our Canadian traditions and have a Christmas tree—a thing practically unheard of in New Zealand."

TREE STARTED IT

"The company my husband worked for at that time had held a staff party and imported a pine tree. It was auctioned and we bought it for six shillings and sixpence (about $1). This was a lot of money for New Zealanders—the average man would have to work about 90 minutes to earn that amount."

Confirmed spendthrifts in the eyes of their neighbors, Mrs. Stevens and her husband set about to produce the decorations that would transform the tree for their four small children.

"No decorations were to be bought so we ended up making them, using colored cigarette packages. It might have been unorthodox but, to our eyes, that tree was a thing of beauty!"

It must also have been a thing of wonder to the neighborhood tots.

DOZENS CAME

"I can't remember exactly when on Christmas morning I had the feeling that we were being watched by dozens of eyes. But, I looked up and there were all kinds of little fellows peering down the hallway to look at this tree of ours."

"I couldn't resist asking them in so that they could have a closer look. That was just the beginning—after that there was a steady stream of pint-sized callers all day long!"

If the tree wasn't enough to have the Stevens' neighbors convinced that they "weren't quite normal"—their Christmas dinner cinched their suspicions!

"I knew that I'd never be able to find a turkey but Vic and I canvassed for miles and eventually found a farmer who grudgingly consented to sell us a capon for one guinea ($4).

"It weighed just over five pounds. It was a good job that the children were all small, otherwise I'd never have been able to make it go-around!"

This last extravagance horrified their neighbors. "Who but Canadians would be crazy enough to pay such a price for a hot meal when the thermometer was stuck at 80 and all sensible people dined off sausages and salads at the beach!"

During the three and a half years the Stevens called New Zealand home they made many friends.

But even the closest of these couldn't understand what "got into Canadians when Christmas-time came around!"

Parties continue to star the social calendars as Christmas Day draws closer.

"Roaring 20's" songs and dances highlighted the evening.

Saturday, when the staff of Bapco Paint held their annual Christmas party in the Club Sirocco. The entertainment, staged by a local group, the "Roaring 20's Cabaret" featured

Mr. Alex Stewart, Mrs. Mary Grant, and the Theatrical Arts Singers and Dancers. Mr. W. Allen Pendray, president, introduced the honored guests, retired members of the staff, and Mr. Owen Williams, Bapco Employees' Association president, extended a welcome to members and their friends. A smorgasbord, tombolas, community singing and dancing completed the fun-filled evening.

Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Breuls entertained 65 guests on Saturday evening at a cocktail party in their Avondale Road home.

Next Thursday evening, Mr. and Mrs. Colin Rutherford will entertain at a cocktail party in their home on Nottingham Road.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. K. Miller of Satellite Street will entertain a party of six at Thursday evening's smorgasbord in the Empress Hotel. The party is in honor of Mr. Miller's mother, Mrs. Beatrice Miller of Los Angeles, who is visiting in the Denis Road home of her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Young.

Nearly 200 children between the ages of five and 12 watched a special cartoon show, enjoyed the lunch and received a Christmas present of fruit and candy from Their Excellencies.

The party, originated in 1952 by former governor-general Vincent Massey, is a favorite occasion of the Vaniers.

Rev. G. R. Easter came from Preston, Ont., Saturday evening to officiate at the marriage of his son, John Clifford Easter, and Martha Agnes Worthy.

Worthy, sister-in-law of the bride, wore a gown of red velvet, and flower girl, Tannis Worthy, niece of the bride, wore a red velvet A-line frock. Both carried white muffs, trimmed with holly and poinsettias.

Robert Pearmain was best man. Guests were ushered to their pews by Bob Canova, Victor Atchison, Cecil Calbeck and Dennis Ableson.

At a reception which followed in the home of the bride's mother, the toast was proposed by the bride's uncle, Arthur Smeed. Master of ceremonies was Reginald Pearmain.

Children's Party at Rideau Hall

Ottawa (CP)—"Have another piece of fruitcake, won't you?" said the stately lady in black to the wide-eyed five-year-old boy.

"This cake is almost as good as my mother's," replied the boy, helping himself to a large slice.

The lady was Mme. George Vanier and the occasion was the Governor-General's annual Christmas party Saturday for members of the Ottawa Boys' Club and their sisters.

While Governor-General Vanier presided over a poinsettia-covered head table with five of his young guests, Mme. Vanier walked up and down the long rows of shining faces in the banquet hall, passing out sandwiches and cookies, ice cream and cake.

Nearly 200 children between the ages of five and 12 watched a special cartoon show, enjoyed the lunch and received a Christmas present of fruit and candy from Their Excellencies.

The party, originated in 1952 by former governor-general Vincent Massey, is a favorite occasion of the Vaniers.

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Want to feel like a piker or sissy? Nobody does and everyone hates the person who makes him feel that way, so I don't know why I am writing this column. I think it will make you feel like a piker and I like to be liked!

I just have to share with you Lowman a letter I have received from one of the men who read my column.

"Dear Mrs. Lowman:
"I am a daily reader of your articles, 'Why Grow Old?' so I thought I would write a line to let you know how much and why I get a great deal out of them."

"Perhaps I should identify myself. Last August 15 I celebrated my 92nd birthday and enjoy the best of health. I have always been a firm believer in physical exercise. I do 25 push-ups each morning and each night, and walk two miles a day."

"Also I have one or two physical checkups every year. Recently my doctor remarked, 'If you keep going the way you have been going you could live to be 120.' I hope to reach 100 anyway."

"It is likely that this remarkable man comes from a long-lived family. However, I have noticed that most of those I have known who remain youthful into later years have been addicted to exercise. Many of them have carried strenuous exercise down the years with them as a daily habit."

"It would not only be foolish for a person who has not been accustomed to exercise to suddenly begin going through strenuous motions, it would be downright dangerous."

"However, if you are in good health you can form the habit of daily exercise at any age with profit. The important point is to start in very slowly and build up gradually. Begin with easy exercises and do them only a few minutes at first."

Shipbuilders Discuss Offer

A conciliation board award offered last week to 22 unions of B.C.'s shipbuilding industry was discussed in Victoria today by union representatives.

The award offers a 30-cent package of wage increases, welfare and vacation provisions over three years retroactive to Oct. 15. It involves 3,500 employees in Victoria and Vancouver.

After today's meeting, representatives will take recommendations back to their union locals.

A Yarrows spokesman said today that companies plan to meet "as soon as possible."

He said: "Everyone seems encouraged by the unanimous report."

'Quakes, Oil Wells Possible Flood Cause

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Mayor Samuel W. Yorty has ordered a thorough investigation of why the Baldwin Hills reservoir collapsed.

While water and power commissioners held a Sunday afternoon inquiry session, engineers and geologists speculated privately along two lines:

1. A recent series of minor earthquakes may have caused the pencil-thin crack in the side of the reservoir that was discovered four hours prior to the disaster.

2. The concrete and asphalt-coated walls of the earth-fill structure might have been weakened by collapse of deep oil pools pumped dry by wells near the site.

A soil expert who asked not to be identified said there has been a significant cracking and stretching of the earth in the Baldwin Hills area the last several years.

The chief engineer of water works for the department of water and power said the reservoir was one of the most advanced structures built in recent years.

Max K. Socha said the walls of the Baldwin Hills reservoir are compacted fill. A waterproof blanket was put down over the whole interior.

With the dam now empty, observers could see a long series of ragged holes in the blacktop surface which extended from one side of the reservoir to the other. These holes, obviously the leaks that caused the wall to collapse, lead in a straight line from one side to the big break in the wall.

What is
"FOREST"
Siding?

A new and attractive type of siding that comes from specially selected cedar logs sawn to bring out all the distinctive character of knots, burls and grain.

How Does
"FOREST"

It has more thickness, greater wood volume to add structural strength to any building. Its snug fitting makes good insulation and its low cost makes it ideal for modest budget home builders or remodelers.

Conspiracy of Silence' Keeps Doctors Out of Witness Boxes

WASHINGTON — Judge J. Skelly Wright of the U.S. court of appeals has said that a "few would be courageous enough to practice the healing art." Judge Wright said.

He added:

"This philosophy may have been sound in the 19th century before the days of liability insurance. But today, with insurance, financial responsibility is not one of the dangers to the doctor in a malpractice suit."

The judge stated his opinions in a dissent in a malpractice case. The plaintiff, Mrs. Grace Fischer Brown of Washington, was placed under anesthesia and operated on by an oral surgeon for an impacted tooth. When she awoke her jaw was fractured and she sued the physician for $125,000.

No physician testified as an expert witness for Mrs. Brown. She claimed through her attorney that negligence should be inferred to the surgeon. Under normal circumstances, she said, a tooth removal does not result in a fractured jaw. A ruling in her favor would have forced the physician to show that he was not negligent.

The district court judge ruled against her and she lost her case when she was unable to provide evidence of negligence.

Judges John A. Danaher and George T. Washington upheld the lower court ruling. They said that a broken jaw could have been caused by circumstances other than negligence.

Judge Wright dissented and said that the jury should have been permitted to decide whether the injury alone inferred negligence.

BOYS' PARLIAMENT

Ex-Opposition Leader Shifts to Right Side

A former opposition leader in B.C. has just become premier.

But don't worry—there hasn't been a revolution, and you haven't missed an election.

The new "premier" is Rick Higgs, of Vancouver, who heads the year's Older Boys' Parliament, 33rd annual session of the group of young B.C. men. He was previously an opposition leader.

There will be 65 sitting members and 30 observers.

The parliament and its activities are financed by bond sales—an "investment in youth". Main purpose of the organization is allegiance to God, with each member swearing he will do all possible to promote spiritual, mental, physical and social development in youth throughout B.C.

During the year, they participate in youth programs, assisting handicapped and underprivileged children.

Each morning before the sessions, arriving at the Legislative Buildings Friday, Dec. 27.

Opening ceremony will be held in the legislature at 8:30 p.m. Friday, and sessions will be on Saturday, Dec. 28, at 2 p.m. and 8 p.m., and Monday at the same times.

OPEN TO PUBLIC

All are open to the public. Speaker of the senate will be Lorne G. Drummond; Opposition Leader, Currie Grass, and Speaker of the House, Ed. Maunsell. All are from Vancouver.

BAGHDAD, Iraq (Reuters) — A military court here has sentenced 28 women, most of them teachers, to prison terms ranging from five months to 2½ years for Communist activities, the newspaper Aljidd reported.

$1,500,000 Fire Guts Big Moose Jaw Church

MOOSE JAW (CP) — Firemen waged a hopeless battle Sunday as a roaring fire reduced the magnificent St. Andrews United Church here to a blackened shell of grey-stone walls.

Dr. Homer Lane, rector of the 50-year-old church, estimated the damage at $1,500,000 and said it was almost fully covered by insurance.

One fireman was injured when a hose broke and the lashing nozzle struck him. His condition was unknown.

The entire Moose Jaw fire department—45 men and six trucks—fought the blaze, for three hours before bringing it under control. A pumper from the Moose Jaw RCAF base and another from an oil refinery were on standby in case of other fires in the city.

Church members—who had attended Sunday morning services and would have been back in the church had the fire broken out—the largest in western Canada an hour later—stood in disbelief as muffled explosion after explosion sent flames shooting 150 feet in the air.

BIGGEST IN CITY

It was the biggest church in Moose Jaw and had a membership of 1,700.

Children, who had piled gifts for the needy under the Christmas tree in the church only hours earlier, turned to their parents in tears.

Firemen said no one was in the structure when the fire was noticed during the supper hour. Firemen said they had thought the fire was out shortly after the first units arrived but an explosion pushed flames through the roof.

Earl Brawdy reported the fire: "I saw a speck of flame in a window near the (church) kitchen. It didn't look like much at the time."

Firemen wrestled with frozen hoses in the eight-degree-below-zero weather as a 13 mile an hour wind whipped spray over them, covering them with an icy film.

Homes near the inferno were evacuated and a six-block area in the city of 34,000 was without power for two hours. Police blocked streets to guard hoses and keep traffic from the ice-covered roadways.

DEBRIS FALLS

Burning debris rained on the area but no damage was reported by nearby residents.

The church, one of the most beautiful in the West, had a seating capacity for 1,400. It contained tiered sanctuary, an addition with Sunday school rooms, offices, kitchen facilities and recreational space.

An $8,000 stained glass window and a $90,000 pipe organ—the largest in Western Canada—were lost. Church officials were hopeful that archives stored in the 100-foot high bell tower may have escaped the flames.

Rev. Lane said directors of the church would meet today to decide whether to rebuild on the present site or look for a new one. At least two churches have offered to allow St. Andrews' congregation use their facilities.

It added that "the scurrilous attack on two individual officers for supporting a program of training future millwrights, and where necessary upgrading present employees, clarifies his intentions of keeping the union divided."

The statement said the training program was "among the best negotiated anywhere in Canada and provides training and upgrading with full wages while attending school and with all rights of individuals protected by the IWA union agreement."

It added that "the regional officers are aware that Thompson will continue his unprincipled attacks upon any policy that does not follow his line."

MILLWRIGHTS

IWA Sparks Fly Over Training

VANCOUVER (CP) — International union rivalry within the ranks of the International Woodworkers of America erupted in harsh words by opposing union factions over the weekend.

Saturday Syd Thompson, president of IWA Local 1-217 (Vancouver), the largest local in the IWA on the coast, issued a bitter attack on regional IWA president Jack Moore and secretary-treasurer Fred Fieber for their support of a job-training program for future millwrights.

Mr. Thompson in a statement at a meeting of tradesmen here, called for the defeat of Moore and Fieber for their support of the program which requires present millwrights to take an examination to acquire a certificate of competence to qualify for an additional 10 cents an hour.

Mr. Thompson said Moore and Fieber will have to be defeated because their behavior cannot be longer tolerated.

CHEAP POLITICS

A statement issued Sunday by president Moore, Mr. Fieber and three other regional officers of the union, termed the attack by Thompson as "unprincipled" and said it must be "branded as cheap inter-union politics."

"As usual," said the union officers' statement, "Thompson ignores the facts and the directions given to regional officers by the regional convention."

It said "his scurrilous attack on two individual officers for supporting a program of training future millwrights, and where necessary upgrading present employees, clarifies his intentions of keeping the union divided."

The statement said the training program was "among the best negotiated anywhere in Canada and provides training and upgrading with full wages while attending school and with all rights of individuals protected by the IWA union agreement."

Kenya, Zanzibar Join UN Today

UNITED NATIONS (CP) — Zanzibar and Kenya joined the United Nations today, bringing membership in the world organization to 113 nations.

The Security Council was to adopt British-Ghanian resolutions recommending both new countries for admission. The General Assembly was expected to vote the two into membership soon after.

Zanzibar, a former British protectorate, became independent Tuesday. Kenya was a British Crown colony until independence Thursday. Both are remaining in the British Commonwealth.

The two nations bring the ranks of the already powerful Afro-Asian group at the UN to 58 countries, slightly more than half the UN membership.

The group is campaigning to enlarge UN councils to get more seats for its members, who only numbered 11 in 1945.

The Africans were trying to work out a deal with the 21-nation Latin American group to override big four opposition and push resolutions through the General Assembly, calling for expansion of the Security Council from 11 to 15 seats and the economic and social council from 18 to 27 seats.

The Latin Americans also are sponsoring a resolution to expand the Security Council to 13 seats and the economic and social council to 24.

Informed diplomats said eight of the 21 Latin American dele-

LORD SNOWDON WATCHES

NOTTINGHAM, Eng. (AP)

—The lord mayor's party was going full swing and Princess Margaret's husband, Lord Snowdon, was mingling convivially with the local bigwigs.

Everything was fine until a crowd of hungry actors trooped in and fists began to fly.

DETAILS LEAK OUT

Details of the incident leaked out Saturday, three days after the party. Dunlop said:

"I approached the lord mayor, who was with Lord Snowdon, and said I was worried about the cast not having any food. He seemed genuinely concerned and suggested we should see if there was anything in his parlor."

In the parlor they found the town clerk, Thomas Owen. Neville said Sir Tyrone gave

"most embarrassing for Lord Snowdon."

The theatrical party included actors Peter Ustinov and John Neville, producer Sir Tyrone Guthrie and director Frank Dunlop. They were late arriving at the party because the actors had to change and they waited for stage hands, who had to tidy up.

'DON'T PLEASE CHINA AT EXPENSE OF SOVIET'

PARIS (AP)—U.S. State Secretary Dean Rusk urged the North Atlantic alliance today to avoid actions which would give comfort to Communist China at the expense of the Soviet Union.

He told a NATO ministerial meeting the West might be on the verge of seeing great changes in the Communist world. Rusk said the militancy of Peking should not be encouraged. In this context, he said, it was better for the West to go along with coexistence with the Soviet Union.

PLEDGE TO NATO

U.S. Will Keep Europe Troops

(Times News Services)

PARIS—President Lyndon Johnson today pledged full support for NATO and assured the alliance the United States would keep at least six divisions in Europe "as long as they are needed."

The new American president made the pledge in a message to the 15-nation NATO ministerial council which opened a three-day meeting here to assess the West's military strength and policy.

He said under present circumstances there was no doubt the six divisions in Europe will "continue" to be needed.

In his message, read by State Secretary Rusk, Johnson said they could best honor the late president Kennedy by continuing "our pursuit of the goal of Atlantic partnership."

Dirk Stikker, Dutch secretary-general of NATOO, said Johnson's message was "very well received" and created a "good impression."

CALLS ON DE GAULLE

Rusk later called on President de Gaulle for a wide-ranging discussion at the Elvise Palace. But he told reporters after the 45-minute courtesy call the question of a visit by de Gaulle to Washington was not raised.

External Affairs Minister Paul Martin of Canada told the ministers at the two-hour morning session that he believes the peoples of Communist Eastern Europe were enjoying a greater measure of autonomy.

He also suggested that the disarmament talks resuming in Geneva next month should be established as a regular fixture of the diplomatic calendar.

The foreign, finance and defense ministers heard a maiden speech by new British Foreign Secretary R. A. Butler.

Butler asked the Western Allies to control exports of arms that could be used against the British-backed Malaya Federation, a conference spokesman said.

He said the Southeast Asian federation bitterly opposed by Indonesia was a barrier to Communist aggression.

SHOULD BACK POLICY

In dealing with East-West relations, Butler said he believed Soviet Premier Khrushchev was anxious not to increase Russia's military expenditures and the West should encourage this policy.

He also said the West must act in unison on the question of Western contacts with Russia. But in making any approach, the West must maintain the military balance and protect its vital interests in West Berlin.

He suggested the setting up

WEEK ON MARKETS

Speculatives Hold Major Attraction

By IAN MacKENZIE
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Speculative issues were the centre of attraction on Canadian stock markets last week.

Transierre Exploration, listed on the Canadian exchange in Montreal Monday, reported a gold strike in the Semerre region of Quebec and sent the prices soaring of several penny stocks with properties in the area.

Belleterre Quebec Mines Ltd., Candore Exploration Ltd., Newcon Holdings Ltd. and Zulana Mining Corporation Ltd., all have holdings in the vicinity of the Transierre's strike and showed healthy gains during the fast few days on the Toronto exchange.

The industrial board of the Toronto market showed a slight bullish trend although it remained generally dull.

RAILS STRONG

A strong performance by rail issues in New York has bolstered brokers' hopes for a Christmas rally in Canada and local markets appear to be in a mood to accept any urging that should come their way.

Within Canada itself, dividend payments by Canadian companies this year will set a record $961,000,000, up five per cent from 1962, according to a survey by J.-R. Timmins and Company of Toronto; chain store sales are running at the best level ever and manufactured exports will reach about $1,000,000,000 this year, almost double the figure for 1960.

There were a couple of bright sparks on the Toronto industrial board during the week.

LIQUOR MEDIOCRE

Liquor and brewery stocks had a mediocre showing until the announcement of two-for-one stock split and dividend increase for Hiram Walker-Godfery and Worts Friday afternoon. The news sent the stock up for a $3.00 gain on the day on heavy turnover.

Great Northern Capital Company Ltd. also attracted attention at mid-week following a sharp flurry of buying on news of a bid to oust most of the company's directors.

A majority of refining oils, steels, banks and papers were fractionally higher on the week while Trans-Canada Pipe Lines Ltd. was a strong favorite among pipelines. Home Oil Co. Ltd., class A and B, also gained ground.

In the senior basic metals, Consolidated Mining and Smelting Company of Canada Ltd., International Nickel Company of Canada Ltd. and Noranda Mines Ltd. all registered gains.

VOLUME HIGHER

Volume in Toronto was 20,839,341 shares compared with 17,933,889 a week ago with a value of $39,144,511 compared with $37,968,507.

An index in Toronto, the exchange index rose 39 to 125.75, industrials 54 to 134.57, gold 1.89 to 25.05, base metals 1.32 to 57.29 and western oils 1.82 to 79.86.

Volvo Car Shipment Delayed

DARTMOUTH, N.S. (UPI)—Volvo of Canada's first shipment of Canadian-assembled cars to the U.S. has run into a snag.

The shipping line, Rex Lines, failed to file a tariff with the Federal Merchant Commission in Washington requesting permission to unload the 200 cars in the U.S.—either in New York City or Newark, N.J.

The line's Halifax agent, Kerr Steamship Ltd. said Friday the Swedish-owned Rex Lines' New York office now has filed and shipment should start within 30 days, the Kerr spokesman said.

A Volvo spokesman in Dartmouth said he did not know who was responsible for getting the import licence but the delay was "embarrassing."

The Norwegian freighter Cypress press arrived in port Thursday from Gothenburg, Sweden, with parts for 160 cars to be assembled in Canada.

After unloading, the Cypress was to have loaded the 200 sedans for Volvo import in New Jersey.

New York Central Declares Dividend

NEW YORK (AP)—New York Central Railroad directors have declared a 50-cent-share dividend payable Dec. 31 to shareholders of record Dec. 23.

Although the Central was near $4,000,000 in the red for the first nine months of 1963, a strong fourth quarter being expected, the railroad is expected to swing the Central into the black for the year.

The dividend matches the 50 cents voted two weeks ago by directors of the Pennsylvania Railroad, the Central's partner in a pending merger proposal.

PRODUCTION LINES at Studebaker of Canada's plant at Hamilton, Ont., will begin two-shift production within three months. The 100 per cent increase results from the recent decision of Studebaker Corp. to close down its U.S. plant and shift all car production to Canada. In future, all cars for world sales will be built in Canada with the Hamilton operation responsible for engineering and design.

WEEK IN BUSINESS

Studebaker Decision Cuts U.S. Carmakers to Four

By JACK LEFLER

NEW YORK (AP)—Studebaker Corporation's decision last week to quit making automobiles in the United States was a jolting business development.

U.S. carmakers, once numbered in the hundreds, were reduced to four with Studebaker's decision to produce automobiles at Hamilton, Ont., from now on.

The action produced a bleak Christmas outlook for 7,000 workers who will lose their jobs in South Bend, Ind., Studebaker's main U.S. assembly centre.

The job crisis became widespread when Defence Secretary Robert S. McNamara announced that 26 military bases in the United States will be closed. This meant the elimination of 8,500 civilian jobs. But McNamara said these workers will be offered another job opportunity.

60 YEARS IN CARS

Studebaker has been making cars in South Bend for 60 years, and before that was a successful wagonmaker.

The company will continue manufacturing autos in Canada at a reduced rate and will supply parts to dealers everywhere.

Studebaker chairman Randolph Guthrie said his firm had lost $40,000,000 since 1959 on its United States car operations and was being "bled to death" at South Bend.

In the first nine months of this year, when the 1964 models flopped, the company lost $38,000.

About 1,000 workers will be retained at South Bend to build engines and stamp body parts for the Canadian operation and to carry out an $80,000,000 government truck contract.

South Bend was stunned by the shutting down of its biggest industry. The mayor called a meeting of community leaders to consider what action could be taken. The United Auto Workers Union urged Chrysler Corp. to take up the slack by locating a proposed Illinois assembly plant at South Bend.

Elsewhere, the automobile industry was flourishing. Production last week was estimated at a record 190,700 passenger cars, compared with 187,337 the previous week and 176,109 a year ago.

With the end of the year approaching, the business forecasting season opened in earnest. Here are some of the predictions:

1. National Industrial Conference Board—Manufacturers say the outlook for profits is rosy in the first half of 1964.

2. McGraw-Hill Publishing Co.—Next year could be the best in business history if there is a tax cut.

3. Life Insurance Association of America—A tax reduction would bring the U.S. substantially economic gains next year. 1964. They included Joseph L. 4. Prudential Insurance Co.—The gross national product will climb to $617,000,000,000 in 1964, from an estimated $583,000,000,000 in 1963.

5. Commerce Department—Capital investment will hit a record annual rate of $41,700,000,000 by mid-1964.

Industry leaders in key segments of the economy, participating in the annual business forum discussion sponsored by the First National Bank of Chicago, predicted continued business expansion in their particular fields in the first half of coming in.

RUSSIA-BOUND

Rain Fear Slows Up Shipments of Flour

VANCOUVER (CP)—Concern from Oct. 31 to Nov. 26, although among Russian ship captains from Oct. 31 to Nov. 26, although loading time is usually only 10 days.

SIX SHIPS LOAD

Capt. Johnson said six Russian ships are in Vancouver harbour now and about a dozen have left with cargoes under Canada's new 450,000-ton deal with the Russians. The cargoes average 7,000 tons each.

He confirmed reports the captains are fearful any rain at all will affect their cargoes and possibly bring penalties when they make their deliveries.

Capt. Johnson said the concern is groundless—"after all, we've been dealing with this for years"—and some of the captains have changed their thinking at South Bend.

Invaders Rap Home 14 Goals

By The Canadian Press

League-leading Denver Invaders unleashed a flood of goals against Los Angeles Blades for two lopsided victories in Western Hockey League play during the weekend.

Saturday, Blades lost 9-4 at Denver when Invaders came up with four goals in each of two periods and they were whipped again Sunday by a 5-1 score when Denver, slumped in three goals in the last five minutes.

In other games during the weekend, San Francisco Seals defeated Vancouver Canucks 5-4 in overtime Saturday. Sunday, Vancouver came back with a 4-1 win at the Cow Palace.

Sunday, Portland Buckeroos defeated Seattle Totems 5-3.

The closest Los Angeles got to Denver Saturday was a 5-4 score during the second period when Blade's Willie O'Ree, Norm Johnson and Bob Solinger fired in three shots within 10 minutes. Gordon Haworth scored Blades' single goal in the first period.

Hopman Names Aussie Team

MELBOURNE (AP) — The Australian Davis Cup tennis team, which will defend its title in the challenge round against the United States, was named Monday by non-playing captain Harry Hopman.

Roy Emerson, Neale Fraser, Fred Stolle and John Newcombe comprise the team. The challenge round will be played at Adelaide Dec. 26-28.

Fraser is the veteran of the quartet at the age of 30. Emerson is 27, Stolle 25 and Newcombe 19.

Easing Fears of Refs Wasn't United's Idea

VANCOUVER—Victoria United didn't want it that way, but Pacific Coast Soccer League referees had no cause for worry here Sunday.

Way of being targets for excitable fans of Vancouver's Columbus club, referees last week threatened to strike unless police protection was provided at games involving the Italians. League officials later agreed to games by waiting past New Westminster Royals 5-0.

If police were at Sunday's game between Columbus and Victoria United they were by no means conspicuous. However, this was one time the refs had no fears of violence. Even volatile fans seldom erupt unless a game is close.

This one never appeared in doubt after the opening minutes as United bogged down on the muddy, rain-soaked Columbus Park pitch while the Italians played as if they were born with webbed feet and sloshed their way to a 6-1 triumph.

CED SCORES THREE

Robb Too Slow? Ask the Goalies

Ced Robb may be considered in some circles to have slowed down too much for campaigning in the Pacific Coast Soccer League, but the burly veteran is doing a great job of terrorizing Victoria and District League goalies.

Leading scorer in the district loop, the former Victoria United ace was steaming through the mud of Heywood Avenue Park in old-time style Sunday. Ced fired three goals in the first half to lead Gorge Hotel to a 7-3 triumph over Price and Smith and a berth in the Jackson Cup final.

Opposing the Hotelmen in the cup final will be Brodies Bakery, which turned back a youthful Canadian Scottish side 5-1 Saturday.

Both the Hotelmen and Bakers had trouble in the early stages before pulling away.

TWICE DEADLOCKED

Price and Smith twice deadlocked the score before Gorge took over to fashion a 5-2 margin at the intermission. Brodies needed more time to take command. They were squared 1-1 with the Scots after 30 minutes of the second half. Then winger Graham Rice sent them ahead to stay and the Scots yielded three more tallies in the closing minutes.

A pair of former United players, Geoff Hill and Bill Hamilton, each counted twice for Brodies. Ken Hibbert notched the Scottish tally.

NAVY CLUB CLIMBS

Joining Robb in the Gorge scoring parade were Ian Hollroyd, with two goals, Duncan McCullum and Tom Walker. Counting for the clothiers were Fred Potts, Daryl McIntyre and Dick Austin.

Only one second division match was played Sunday as a scheduled match between Oak Bay and Dunlops was postponed. Navy took advantage of the situation to climb into a second-place tie with Oak Bay by whipping Kings 6-2.

The young Red Sox outfielder finished with a .321 average. Al Kaline of Detroit was second with .312 followed by Rich Rollins of Minnesota, .307, and Rollie Pearson, Los Angeles, .304.

Yastrzemski's triumph was the fifth for Red Sox player in the last seven seasons. Ted Williams, the great Boston outfielder, captured the title in 1957 and 1958, while Pete Runnels, an infielder, won it in 1960 and 1962.

Ted Sarkissian set the scoring pace for the Cats with two goals, and Bion and Don Williams each made it a two-point afternoon by collecting a goal and an assist. Also counting for Victoria were Wayne Anderson and Glen Robertson.

Goals for the last-place Steelheads were scored by Glen Wilson, Gary Shaw and Bob Green.

Cougars are on the road for two games next weekend, playing at Chilliwack Saturday and at New Westminster Sunday.

They outshot the Cougars 29-20 over the last two periods but were forced to fire most of their shots from long range while the Victorians earned more close-in drives with sharp passing.

Over the route, Cougar goalie Ed Hastings made 33 saves while Chilliwack goalies Gary Weiss and Andy Violette stopped 27 shots. Violette blocked six of seven after taking over for the third period.

2 Men Die In Mishaps On W. Coast

PORT ALBERNI—Two men died in separate accidents in Port Alberni over the weekend.

An inquest will be held tonight to determine the cause of the death of Rochester Peters, 59, a resident of the Alberni Indian reserve, who died in hospital Saturday after being struck by a car at Third Ave. and Dunbar Friday night.

Police said the driver of the car was a juvenile.

An inquest into the death of Bruno Wedans, 39, who drowned early Saturday, will be held later this week.

Police said Wedans missed his footing on a gangplank and fell into the water between a freighter and the pulp mill of MacMillan Bloedel and Powell River Ltd.

His body was recovered.

Reorganization Asked in Welfare At Campbell River

CAMPBELL RIVER—A complete reorganization of social welfare services here has been requested.

Upper Island Health Unit, social welfare department, probationary service and hospital officials have asked the B.C. government to staff the area with two full-time field workers and a clerical staff. This was the minimum number of workers needed to do the necessary job, officials decided at a special meeting.

At present, a social worker from Courtenay operates in Campbell River and district on a part-time basis. This, it was pointed out, is precisely the same situation as existed 10 years ago despite the population expansion.

Magistrate Roderick Haig-Brown was named to head a committee to press for reorganization of the welfare service.

The land forms nearly half of what is known as old Wellsmith property and has timber estimated at $3,000 value.

FARM HAND DROWNS

SUMNER, Wash. (AP)—Ebons Norris, 46, an itinerant farm worker from Westholme, V.I., drowned early Sunday in the Puyallup River.

His body was found several hours later by two fishermen.

Sheriff's officers said Norris apparently lost his balance and fell from a bridge three miles south of here. He had been working in the Puyallup Valley.

His body was recovered.

They're Building A Better Tea Spout

CAMPBELL RIVER—Because a Campbell River housewife wasn't satisfied with a teapot that "dribbled," hostesses all across Canada will soon be much better off.

It all began in November of last year when Mrs. J. C. McDougall purchased a number of teapots to send as Christmas gifts to friends.

She kept one for herself, but was disappointed to find that it dripped around the spout when she poured. A little annoyed, thinking perhaps she had sent inferior gifts to friends, she wrote to the New York makers telling them about her feelings. She received a polite note asking her to return the faulty teapot and the promise of a new one.

"I must have burned gallons and gallons of gasoline out there trying to attract the attention of passing ships, but they just looked at me and kept going," he said.

"I wouldn't be without that dog. He's real company."

The boat is being looked after by Oak Bay Marina manager Robert Wright. One of the waitresses there, Linda Puritch, 111 Clarence, is tending to it.

Capt. Carlson spent 13 years with the U.S. Army Transport Service, mostly on Alaska-Seattle run.

"I've had lots of rough experiences at sea, but nothing like this," he said.

CHOP YOUR OWN TREE

CAMPBELL RIVER—Residents here can buy their Christmas tree from Cubs or Scouts and still have the outdoor fun of chopping down their own tree.

Permits are available from both Campbell River and Willow Point Cubs and Scouts, for $1, permitting the holder to pick out and chop down a tree on private Christmas tree farms.

Both groups have tree farms near the municipal airport.

'Coronation Mass' Tonight at Duncan

DUNCAN—"The Coronation Mass" by Mozart will be performed by the Duncan Choral Society tonight starting at 8:15. Director is Dr. Helmut Kilian. The performance will be in Duncan United Church.

The choral group will be assisted by the Nanaimo Symphony Orchestra and a choir from Lake Cowichan.

Funeral services were scheduled at Hirst Funeral Chapel today for Mrs. Eva Kathleen Richmond, a well-known resident of Duncan, who died at King's Daughters' Hospital Friday. She was 51.

She is survived by her husband, Walter; two daughters, Mrs. Evelynne Richmond of Duncan, and Mrs. Muriel D. Ord of Chemainus; two sons, Wayne of Duncan, and Lorne of Victoria.

The concept underlying the work of the B.C. welfare department is "self-help," G. A. Philion, government welfare officer, told a meeting of the Cowichan Unitarian Fellowship.

He said material assistance for welfare cases is given by the department only as a last resort.

Social workers regard the preservation of the family unit as extremely important, he added.

A club meeting voted unanimously to support the stand of club president Bob Pederson in demanding appointment of a separate recreation and conservation minister.

"It is ridiculous to place these two portfolios (mines and recreation-conservation) under one minister," Mr. Pederson said. "They are incompatible."

The meeting also criticized Kenneth Hodgson of the B.C. Federation of Fish and Game Clubs for publicly supporting Mr. Kiernan's appointment, made Dec. 4.

Mr. Kiernan succeeded Earle Westwood, personally defeated in the Sept. 30 provincial election.

The new teapot arrived this week.

"It works like a charm," Mrs. McDougall says. "No drips."

The makers also have offered to replace the teapots she sent friends as gifts.

Charge of the Bird Brigade Sets Sight on 4th Record Count

Could you recognize a Saw-whet Owl, a Rhinoceros Auklet or an Ancient Murrelet?

Victoria birdwatchers can—and they'll be out looking for them in this area from dawn to dusk Saturday.

The watchers, ages ranging from 14 to 75, hope to maintain, or exceed, their three-year record in the Christmas bird count conducted by Victoria Natural History Society, as part of the National Audubon Society's annual American bird census.

Equipped with spotting scopes, binoculars, notebooks, pencils, charts and gumboots, they will cover an area extending 15 miles from the city centre to Oak Bay.

Island View Beach, Goldstream and Witty's Lagoon. Every year since 1960, local birdwatchers have spotted more species than any group across Canada.

Last December they recorded 44,146 birds of 121 species in this area. In 1961, 124 species were noted and in 1960, 113.

This year's group—about 45—will also be looking for pine grosbeaks, blue birds, wood ducks, short-eared owls, dippers, great-horned owls, loons, grebes, heron, woodpeckers, crows and wrens—to name but a few.

Saturday's count will be co-ordinated by David Stirling, compiler of the Victoria Bird Count, assisted by Thomas Briggs, and G. Alan Poynter, chairman of the Natural History Society's bird group.

MORE INTEREST

"In recent years there has been a tremendous increase in appreciation of wild life," said Mr. Stirling, who has studied birds in 30 different countries over the past 25 years.

"For proof of this, drop in at any Victoria book store and see the array of books on wildlife. These books must sell, for a spate of new ones is published every year."

Mr. Stirling's list of birds seen and identified in their native habitat now exceeds 800 species.

Bird-watching, he says, is now a popular outdoor sport and few sporting groups can match birders in enthusiasm.

"Birding can be pursued all the year round and it often leads to travel and adventure. A good naturalist usually has a grounding in biology. At the same time, he does not let our deadly practical approach to our environment kill his appreciation of nature."

TREMENDOUS FUN

Bird counts, he points out, are invaluable to ornithologists, government wildlife officers, biologists and scientific studies.

"They are also tremendous fun."

Many birders spend their lunch hours studying birds, and one of their favorite haunts is Clover Point, where many varieties are to be seen.

MOTEL THIEF GETS $100 FROM QORs

Two soldiers of the Queen's Own Rifles recently arrived in Victoria lost a total of $100 when their rooms were robbed at the Royal Victorian Motel, 230 Gorge.

Corporal William Maitland $30 from his wallet and Rifleman Andrew Kitzen lost $70 and a pair of pants. The break-ins occurred early Sunday morning.

A radio was stolen from a car parked by Jack Greenidge outside his home at 2501 Park Sunday.

Harry Richardson, 3028 Quadra, found the basement door of his home was kicked in but nothing was taken, and an attempt was also made to enter Haultain Variety Store, 1500 Haultain, by breaking the front door.

The court ruled in favor of two Manitoba treaty Indians previously convicted of hunting big game with night lights, a violation of provincial game laws.

The court said the Indians' treaty rights take precedence over all provincial laws.

Tom Berger, representing the Island Indians, said the Manitoba case had already been cited in their defence.

"Now the court has taken it even further. I'm sure the decision of the Supreme Court will be considered," Mr. Berger said.

He said he will check the details, but he assumes a Supreme Court decision is binding.

TAPPY TOO

However, lawyers acting for the attorney-general's department also appeared to greet the Supreme Court decision with some enthusiasm:

"We are just formulating an opinion now," said one, but he declined to elaborate.

The crown's case is partly based on the contention that the Island Indians are not subject to a treaty.

Clifford White and David Bob were fined $100 by Nanaimo magistrate Lionel Beevor-Potts Sept. 25 for being in possession of deer carcasses out of season.

RESUME JAN. 8

The case was taken over by the County Court, and will resume on Jan. 8 in Nanaimo.

The Indians contend they were given the right to hunt for food by treaty.

The validity of a treaty signed by James Douglas on behalf of the Hudson's Bay Company in 1854 is a key argument in the case.

If the court throws out the treaty issue, it could spark a whole lot of new arguments about the rightful ownership of the province.

Indian Victory In East Might Sway V.I. Case

A decision today by the Supreme Court of Canada may affect the outcome of the trial of two Vancouver Island Indians for illegal hunting, says their lawyer.

Vandals Smash Grave Markers

Parts of Ross Bay Cemetery were desecrated by vandals during the weekend.

Five marble headpieces on graves were smashed and 12 other monuments overturned.

Total damage is estimated at about $500.

The vandals are thought to have entered the graveyard Sunday night.

CUT SWATH

They apparently entered from Dallas Road and cut a swath of destruction in a near straight line through the cemetery to May Street.

The vandalism was discovered by a graveyard worker, Carl Howard, this morning. He noticed several monuments that had been overturned and righted them.

SOME BROKEN

Mr. Howard said monuments are periodically pushed over and he didn't pay too much attention at first. But when he checked further he discovered some had been broken.

Further investigation revealed the full extent of the desecration. In most cases damage was caused by crosses being broken off monuments when they were pushed over.

OLDEN ONES

Mr. Howard said most of the damage was done to older monuments.

It is not known if the city, which operates the graveyard, or the grave-owners, are responsible for repairing the damage.

$3,000 DAMAGE

There is easy access to the graveyard which is surrounded by a hedge.

Last year vandals did about $3,000 damage to graves in the same cemetery.

Mr. Howard said most of the damage was done to older monuments.

It is not known if the city, which operates the graveyard, or the grave-owners, are responsible for repairing the damage.

'Turn Off Tap'

On C. Saanich

Victoria should cut off Central Saanich's water supply if that municipality does not live up to a promise to supply basic financial information on its water system, Ald. Geoffrey Edgelow said today.

In view of the fact that no deadline appears imminent and Central Saanich's own refusal to supply necessary information, he said the whole matter should be tabled for a thorough appraisal and report before any hasty action is taken.

Both city solicitor T. P. O'Grady and city water committee committee that Victoria would be justified in turning off the water tap" because the city's generosity in providing millions of gallons of free water from Elk Lake to Central Saanich was being repaid with insults and criticism.

City manager Dennis Young reported that contrary to Central Saanich Reeve Gordon Lee's promise, when he came to City Hall to ask help, the municipality's auditors have refused to disclose needed financial information as a basis for an agreement.

"We should tell them if they do not give us this information, we will cut off their water," said Ald. Edgelow.

"We've been giving them water and all they've done is make unfair statements about the city. I think it's high time we got tough with them."

Ald. M. H. Mooney said Central Saanich's efforts to stampede the city into signing a formal agreement to supply it with water would drop a "million-dollar obligation on Victoria taxpayers to provide Central Saanich with water forever."

"Yes, while the city has to pay for its own water as well, angrily interjected Ald. Edgelow.

Mr. Loughnane served in Canada during the Second World War as a flying officer in the RCAF.

He is survived by the widow, Clara, at home, three children, Colleen Leslie, Deidre Aileen and Dormot Vincent, and his mother, Mrs. Anne Jane Loughnane.

Funeral services will be held Wednesday at 1:30 p.m. in McCall Bros. chapel.

Interment will be in Royal Oak Burial Park.

"So we would be operating a water supply for them," he said.

Lawyer Seeks Bond for Jack Ruby

Gas Blamed for Toronto Explosion

TORONTO (CP)—A woman was injured today when an explosion ripped up 100 feet of pavement beneath her feet in downtown Toronto. "If it had been rush hour, there would have been hundreds killed," a policeman said. The woman, Anne Westley, 38, was treated in hospital for a gashed leg and discharged. The explosion was blamed by police on leaking natural gas.

Judge Got Gas Shares, Court Told

TORONTO (CP)—Mr. Justice Leo Landreville of the Ontario Supreme Court got 7,500 shares of Northern Ontario Natural Gas Company in a stock deal in 1957, a court hearing was told today.

Mr. Justice Landreville is a former mayor of Sudbury, which issued a natural gas franchise to NONG several years ago.

Working Mile Below Surface

HELPER, Utah (AP)—Seven or eight men were reported missing after an explosion today deep in a coal mine in central Utah.

A Carbon County deputy sheriff said one injured man was brought to the surface. He said the missing miners had been working about one mile deep in the mine.

Two mine rescue teams were en route to Helper from Price, about eight miles to the south. The injured miner was taken to Carbon County hospital in Price, identified as Jesus Nunez. He was reported in fair condition.

Irene Kovach, a bookkeeper at the Carbon Fuel Mine, said the explosion occurred at 11:30 a.m.

She said 42 men are employed at the mine, which has been in operation since 1957. She said this was the first incident in the mine's history.

It was the second mine explosion in Utah this year. In August, 17 men were killed in a disaster at a potash mine near Moab in southeastern Utah. Many of the victims were Canadians.

The mine is located about three miles north of Helper.

Divided Doctors Don't Talk It Out

REGINA (CP)—A picture of in his report that these medical staffs, controlled by doctors who do not work in community clinics, did not make a great enough effort to communicate personally with the applying community clinic doctors and so did not get all the facts before delivering their advice. Misunderstandings also arose, especially in the field of medical ethics.

Mr. Justice Woods says this lack of communication affects not only hospital privileges but other facets of medical practice in the province and he calls on the two groups of doctors to sit down and frankly discuss their differences.

The major difference, over the medical care plan, arises because the community clinic doctors work directly under the plan and in many cases support it while most other doctors work outside it and oppose it.

The commissioner made two recommendations which he said would help deal with the problems encountered by the community clinic doctors.

A doctor with hospital privileges is allowed to commit his patients to a hospital and treat them there. An arch of the five cases investigated so far by Mr. Justice Woods, applications for hospital privileges were rejected on the advice of hospital medical staffs.

The commissioner concludes

Not all is discouraging in Korea.

Although there are thousands of children still crying out for food, there are many more who have received help in the past and are now self-sufficient citizens helping others.

The Unitarian Service Committee of Canada is known as the "agency with a heart." But it is also the agency with a plan.

Money given to USC is used in two ways—one portion is spent on food for immediate relief from hunger, the other attempts to alleviate the cause of such poverty and misery.

The commissioner recommended that a board of appeal be established to deal with complaints on privilege applications. The board would be permanent, headed by a member of the LOS ANGELES (AP)—An estimated 300,000,000 gallons of water roared out of a gaping hole in Baldwin Hills reservoir, leaving three persons dead, 15 injured, at least $10,000,000 damage—and one big unanswered question: Why?

Investigators probed the cause of Saturday's devastating flood today as cleanup crews and heartbroken homeowners moved in to clear the stricken area of tons of mud and debris.

For some, there was nothing to be done.

The giant wall of water from the breaking earth-filled dam swept blocks of homes away. Only deep, eroded gullies remained where attractive dwellings stood. Sixty-four homes were destroyed and 82 received major damage. More than 100 cars were wrecked.

More fortunate residents picked among the ruins of their shattered homes, hoping to salvage items left behind when the order to evacuate disrupted the tranquil neighborhood. Police patrolled the area heavily to prevent looting.

BURST WITH ROAR

The big 19.5-acre reservoir, owned by the Los Angeles department of water and power, burst with a mighty roar Saturday afternoon after a small leak developed earlier in the day.

Witnesses said a wedge 75 feet at the base tore out of the asphalt-and-concrete lined wall of the earth-filled dam and the released water shot 50 feet into the air.

The water at first fell into a catch basin several hundred feet below the lip of the dam, jarring the earth as it hit. The 50-foot-deep basin soon was filled and millions of gallons of water raced down a canyon toward the homes below.

A wall of water 30 feet high and 110 feet across swept houses and garages along as it raced downhill and split into several forks.

The flood smashed through an expensive canyon residential area, hit a garden apartment development, spread through two business districts and another residential neighborhood, then piled into a flood control channel and found its way to the ocean about five miles away.

Up to 10 inches of thick mud covered everything in the path of the water.

It wasn't the first time such a disaster had struck southern California. In 1928, St. Francis Dam in Ventura County broke and 500 persons lost their lives.

In that event there was no time to warn the people below and they died trapped in crushed homes.

Mayor Samuel Yorty has asked Franklin D. Murphy, chancellor of the University of California at Los Angeles, Dr. Norman Topping, president of the University of Southern California, and Dr. Lee A. Dubridge, president of Caltech, to name a board to study the tragedy.

The federal government declared Baldwin Hills a disaster area, making available long-term, low-interest loans for flood victims.

18 Westbound Passengers Hurt

LITTLE FORT, B.C. (CP)—The Super-Continental, crack CNR trans-continental with 230 persons asleep in its 16 passenger cars, plunged from the rails near this tiny lumbering community during a snowstorm early today.

Eighteen persons were slightly injured but only one, described as an elderly man with heart trouble, was admitted to hospital.

CNR officials said the three diesel units pulling the train—No. 2 westbound for Vancouver—remained on the rails. The following 10 cars jumped the track but remained upright. The tail-end cars remained upright on the rails.

Said trainman A. S. Wood of Vancouver:

"It all started with a jumping underneath the train and in a moment there were suitcases, baggage and people bouncing all over the place."

"A few people got excited but it was over in just a few moments and everyone calmed down."

Of the cars which were derailed, one was a baggage car, one an express car and one a dinette. The rest were three day coaches, believed to have contained most of the injured, and four sleepers.

Fisherman's Rescue 'Evens Score'

For Captain Eric Carlson, of Lopez Island, the score has been evened.

Eight years ago, he and the crew of his purse seiner rescued two Canadians, a boy and an old man clinging to a capsized boat.

Saturday afternoon, Capt. Carlson, who is 50, and his dog were rescued by the Canadian icebreaker Caenosa after they had been drifting in Juan de Fuca Strait for two days.

He is resting comfortably in the Veterans' Hospital today.

Capt. Carlson was on his way home from Seattle to Lopez Island in the San Juan group in his 19-foot gillnetter Queen Mary when the engine broke down.

He had just been released from hospital in Seattle after being treated for a heart ailment.

He was alone, except for his dog Toby, a black and white Beagle-Border Collie cross.

"I made it through Deception Pass," he said in hospital here later, "but my engine conked out in the strait."

"I waved to passing boats (internationally recognized distress signal) after my engine failed, but they just waved back at me."

Finally, the crew of the Syosset, passing tanker on the Ferndale-Portland run, realized his plight and radioed the U.S. Coast Guard at Port Angeles, who told Department of Transport wireless station at Gordon Head.

CAMSELL TO RESCUE

Search and Rescue in Vancouver was notified, and the Camsell dispatched from Discovery Island where she was unloading lighthouse supplies.

About three miles off San Juan Island, the Camsell's work boat picked up Capt. Carlson and towed his boat to Oak Bay Marina.

(Lopez Island is west of San Juan Island, between it and the U.S. mainland.)

When he was picked up, he was wearing four sets of underwear to try to keep warm.

NEVER STOPPED

"I must have burned gallons and gallons of gasoline out there trying to attract the attention of passing ships, but they just looked at me and kept going," he said.

"I wouldn't be without that dog. He's real company."

The boat is being looked after by Oak Bay Marina manager Robert Wright. One of the waitresses there, Linda Puritch, 111 Clarence, is tending to him.

Capt. Carlson spent 13 years with the U.S. Army Transport Service, mostly on the Alaska-Seattle run.

"I've had lots of rough experiences at sea, but nothing like this," he said.

CN TRAIN

a.m. PST 53 miles east of Kamloops, about 135 miles west of Canoe River where 21 persons were killed on Nov. 21, 1950 in one of Canada's worst rail disasters.

In the 1950 wreck, a westbound extra carrying Canadian soldiers en route to the Korean War collided head on with the Continental.

A doctor on the train — his name was not known — available — treated some of the passengers for bruises, cuts and sprained limbs.

Doctors and nurses and three ambulances went to the scene from Kamloops over roads covered with two inches of new snow overnight to a depth of seven inches in places.

The temperature was 17 degrees above zero.

A railway spokesman said cause of the crash was not known but that an investigation was under way.

The eastbound Super-Continental, already under way out of Kamloops when word arrived there of the wreck, went to the scene and loaded the westbound's passengers aboard, then backed up 53 miles to Kamloops.

Plans were to move the 75 passengers aboard No. 2 for Edmonton and east by air from Kamloops with train No. 2 returning to Vancouver with the passengers from the wreck.

Passengers from the derailed train, originally due in Vancouver at 8 a.m., were expected to make it by 3:30 p.m.

CNR officials said today's eastbound was expected to leave Vancouver at 5 p.m. If the main line is still blocked, it will likely be detoured via Calgary.

A Little Girl Gave All That She Had

WINNIPEG (CP) — The eye bank here said today a 12-year-old girl bequeathed her eyes to the organization just before she died 10 days ago.

After her death, doctors used her corneas to restore the sight of a blind person.

"This is the most heart-warming donation I've ever heard about in the history of the eye bank," said a spokesman, J. W. McPherson.

"I could leave someone my eyes," she said.

Michèle insisted and the will was drawn up.

"She must have been a wonderful little girl," Mr. McPherson said.

The eye bank is operated by the Canadian National Institute for the Blind.

2 Men Die In Mishaps On W. Coast

PORT ALBERNI — Two men died in separate accidents in Port Alberni over the weekend.

An inquest will be held tonight to determine the cause of the death of Rochester Peters, 59, a resident of the Alberni Indian reserve, who died in hospital Saturday after being struck by a car at Third Ave. and Dunbar Friday night.

Police said the driver of the car was a juvenile.

An inquiry into the death of Bruno Wedans, 39, who drowned early Saturday, will be held later this week.

Police said Wedans missed his footing on a gangplank and fell into the water between a freighter and the pulp mill of MacMillan Bloedel and Powell River Ltd.

His body was recovered.

FARM HAND DROWNS

SUMNER, Wash. (AP) — Ebons Norris, 46, an itinerant farm worker from Westholme, V.I., drowned early Sunday in the Puyallup River.

His body was found several hours later by two fishermen.

Sheriff's officers said Norris apparently lost his balance and fell from a bridge three miles south of here. He had been working in the Puyallup Valley.

Cheapskate Swains Chase False Scents

MONTREAL (CP) — Households beware!

The Montreal Better Business Bureau says phoney perfumes have created a stench in the Christmas-rush atmosphere in Montreal.

"It's easy for a man to get clipped buying bargain perfumes for wife, mother or sweetheart," says the bureau's bulletin.

"Some are really toilet water or cologne rebottled in fancy purse-sized containers that give them an air of high-price elegance. Some are marked only with initials — A,
